STUDENTS at Oxford worry because women are to teach there. "Isis," read by the Oxford young gentlemen, says that will eventually lead to a sex war, and is "a social revolution of the utmost significance."

Women are natural teachers; teaching has been their business from the beginning; teaching children, teaching husbands.

Hypatia, a better mathematician and philosopher than her father, Theon, was one of the greatest teachers that ever lived, until fanatical early Christian monks tore her from her chariot, as she was going to her school, and murdered her, more than 1,500 years ago.

WOMEN make good teachers and excellent judges, as shown by Judge Mary Bartelme in Chicago. All Chicago admires the administration of justice in her court, especially her wise, just, womanly handling of cases affecting wayward girls and women, and all juvenile cases. Those that opposed her at her first election will be proud to vote for her on Tuesday next.

The college boy or adult citizen lacking respect for women or confidence in their power, judgment and goodness, pays a poor compliment to his own mother.

When a Train Lays ∾ Down on Its Job

THREE MEN BARELY ESCAPED ALIVE IN THIS AUBURNDALE CRASH
Photo shows wreckage of a locomotive and two American Railway Express cars at Auburndale when they hopped the track and rolled over. The track is under repair there and the train was traveling slowly. Engineer John Taylor, Fireman L. F. Haskell and Conductor W. B. Reynolds jumped barely in time to save their lives.

THREE LEAP FOR LIFE IN AUBURNDALE WRECK

Three men were forced to leap for their lives early today when an engine and two American Railway Express cars lurched from the Boston & Albany Railroad track at Auburndale the locomotive plunged onto its side.

Engineer John Taylor, leaning from his cab window, was first to notice that the engine was careening to the side and he yelled to Fireman L. F. Haskell and Conductor W. B. Reynolds to jump, taking his own advice.

Reynolds, the last to jump, barely escaped being caught under the falling engine.

Fortunately the train had slowed down to ten miles an hour as the road is under construction at that point, rock ballast being put in. The accident occurred near the Rowe street bridge, and an investigation is on to determine the cause of it.

The three men made up the crew of the nine-car train, all American Railway Express cars.

Fireman Haskell undoubtedly saved two cars that had been torn from the rails in the wake of the engine and tender when he ran back and turned off the steam and stamped out the fire which had already began to spread.

U. S. RYDER CUP TEAM TAKES EARLY LEAD

By BILL GRIMES

Worcester Country Club, Worcester, June 3.—At the end of the first nine holes in the Scotch foursomes of the Ryder cup matches which opened here this morning, Captain Walter Hagen and his partner, John Golden, are the only American combination that is trailing.

Hagen and Golden are taking the dust from Captain Ted Ray and Fred Robson, the veterans of this international classic. After having the first hole, on which the captains of the respective teams both drove almost to the brook, the American fell back a hole at the second.

Golden and Robson smashed long drives off this tee and Hagen and Ray followed with fine brassie well over the brook and up the hill. Golden was just on in 3, while Robson put his approach dead and after Hagen missed a long putt, Ray dropped one for a birdie.

BELLANCA PLANE READY TO START OCEAN FLIGHT WITH GERMANY AS GOAL

Lieut. George R. Pond, U. S. N. R. F., Boston aviator, whose home is in Arlington, may wing his way over the Atlantic tonight in the Bellanca single-motored monoplane "Columbia" with Clarence D. Chamberlin.

According to Associated Press and International News Service dispatches from New York and Washingtno, the Bellanca plane, about which more trouble has centred recently on the ground than in the air, was gassed ,oiled and watered to full capacity today.

Also, a sign painter was brought to the "Columbia's" hangar and he painted out the word "Paris" in the "New York to-Paris" slogan.

What word of destination would be substituted, the backers and hangar attendants and guards refused to state. Associated Press despatches declared that the destination is unnamed, while despatches of the International News Service said the strong understanding was that the desitnation is Berlin.

LINDY BACK IN FRANCE ON HIS FAREWELL VISIT

Paris, June 3 (I.N.S.)—Charles A. Lindbergh, America's hero of the skies, arrived back in Paris today. He landed at Le Bourget flying field at 10:02 o'clock after a battle with fog that delayed his flight from London.

Flying at a great height and unescorted by any other plane, Lindbergh arrived over Le Bourget flying field shortly before 10 o'clock. He circled over the field several times, descending into lower altitude at each spiral and then made a perfect landing.

Attaches of the flying field rushed out to greet him and congratulate him upon his venturesome flight from England.

Lindbergh had left Kenley Airdrome, near London, at 6:20 o'clock, but had to descend at Lympe, on the English side of the Channel at 6:58 and was detained there about an hour and fifteen minutes until

HARVARD MAN KILLED BY MEXICAN; U. S. ACTS

Mexico City, June 3 (A.P.).—Special dispatches from Guadalajara say that Arthur Brewer, an American coal merchant of that place, died from revolver shots fired Wednesday by Javier Diaz in a quarrel over business matters.

Diaz escaped and a search is being made for him by the police.

Harvard alumni and old-time football men learned with a shock in the Hub today that Arthur Harris Brewer, captain of the Crimson football eleven in 1895, had been murdered in Guadalajara, Mexico.

The murdered man was 53 years old, had been married since 1904 and was the father of three children. A brother and classmate is Charles Brewer of No. 50 State street, with a home in Weston.

Although he had been out of touch with affairs at Harvard for two-score and more years, as regards visits back to Cambridge, the ex-football captain was in periodical communication with a number of his

BOAT AFIRE, CREW FLEES RUM CARGO IS SEIZED

Manchester, June 3 (A.P.).—Coast guardsmen from Gloucester seized 1,000 gallons of gin and whiskey today which had been hastily thrown overboard on the shores of Kettle Island by rum runners in a fast 36-foot motor boat.

The boat, either by accident or design, caught fire. The four men of its crew escaped to the shore in a tender. The Coast Guard took the blazing craft in tow and beached it on the island but it was said that the 400 horsepower engines were ruined before the fire was extinguished.

Ray Buchanan of Somerville was said by the Coast Guard to have been the owner.

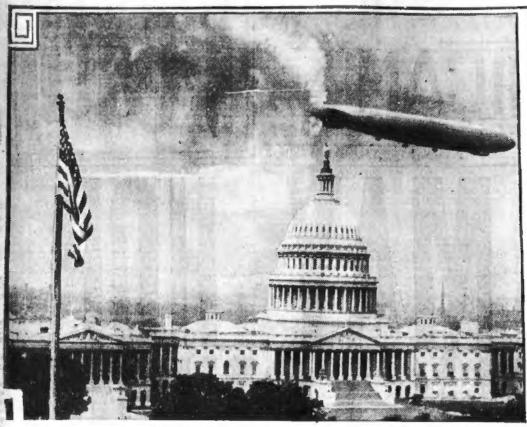
Washington Making Ready for Tribute ∾ To Nation's Conquering Hero ∾ "Lindy," King of the Air



LOS ANGELES TO FLY OVER CAPITAL

Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh on his return from Paris on the cruiser Memphis will get as great a reception as was ever given any national hero. Picture illustrates how the giant airship of the Navy will circle the great dome of the Capitol in his honor.

PATRON OF AVIATION

John Hays Hammond and his daughter Natalie will be among the most enthusiastic of the thousands of enthusiasts who want to make Lindy feel that the nation appreciates his deed.

SWINGING DOWN PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE

Along this historic avenue thousands upon thousands will be lined up as Capt. Lindbergh and his escort proceed to the White House to be received by President Coolidge after his arrival on the Memphis, which is due on June 11, according to tentative plans for the reception of the world hero.

the fog lifted over the water, when he again hopped off at 8:13 o'clock.

This time he was able to continue on to LeBourget without further interruption although the air was thick with mist.

Having been disappointed once, when fog prevented Lindbergh from making his flight yesterday, the French did not turn out in such great numbers as had been expected.

In view of the fact that the visit is "unofficial," there were no ceremonies at the flying field after the American landed.

Tomorrow the air hero goes to Cherbourg, where he will board the U. S. cruiser Memphis and sail for home.

Lindbergh made a double landing. His machine came down first upon the civil aviators field, but as it lightly touched the ground Lindbergh decided that he ought to land in military ground as he was flying a British plane, so he took off and flew very low over the intervening ground to the military hangars only 500 yards away.

Do Stunts for "Lindy"

The American flew in a British Royal Air Force fighting plane that had been placed at his disposal for the trip. He was escorted as far as the channel by British machines, which turned back at that point.

Immediately after Lindbergh's arrival 12 French military airplanes went up and began flying formation stunts in honor of the American.

Lindbergh watched with keen interest the graceful evolutions of the planes above the flying ground, noting the skill of the French pilots. It was a high honor for a civilian flyer, but Lindbergh's courage and skill are such that the French hold him equal to any military ace.

In the meantime, Lindbergh's borrowed plane was being rolled into a military hangar, which was immediately locked up so souvenir hunters could not get at it and damage it.

The American airman entered the hangar and it was there that the formal greetings took place.

Loops Over Channel

In the party that welcomed the young flier were Parmely Herrick, son of Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France; B. F. Mahoney, president of the Ryan Airlines, builders of "The Spirit of St. Louis;" a few attaches of the American embassy and some French officials.

An Imperial Airways plane—a passenger carrying machine—from Croydon, just outside of London, landed at Le Bourget 5 minutes after Lindbergh.

One of the passengers, M. Ehrlich, told an interesting story about the flight.

"We followed Lindbergh from Lympne," said M. Ehrlich, "and we were certainly thrilled and entertained by what we saw. "When he got out over the English Channel he began to do 'stunts' for his own amusement. He looped the loop and went through other evolutions whose names I do not know."

But once on the French side of the channel Lindbergh made a straight line for Paris and flew at high speed without any more evolutions."

M. Ehrlich said that fog was encountered all the way from England to the French flying field. He said that from Lympne to Le Bourget, Lindbergh flew at an average altitude of 3,000 feet.

Baggage in Hat Box

Elaborate police precautions had been taken to handle a great crowd of men and women, but they were not needed.

In addition to newspaper reporters and photographers there were only a score or two of civilians, but they made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers.

Lindbergh's baggage, including a hat box and a package, was placed in the American embassy Rolls Royce and at 10:20 the car departed for Paris bearing Lindbergh, Herrick and Capt. White, of the embassy staff. Mahoney followed in another car.

Lindbergh remained secluded in Paris, June 3 (A.P.)—"Rue Charles Lindbergh" may be the name of a Paris street if Fernand Laurent, municipal councillor, has his way.

He told the newspaper Excelsior that he would propose that one of the city's two new arteries be named for the American aviator and the other be given the name "Nungesser-Coli," in honor of the two French fliers who started on a transatlantic flight from Paris to New York early in May and of whom nothing has been heard since.

LAST RITES FOR J. A. SULLIVAN

Scores of State and municipal officials paid their last tribute to former Corporation Counsel John A. Sullivan at his funeral from St. Cecilia's Church this morning.

Delegations from the Boston Bar Association, the Boston Charitable Irish Society, the Boston Lodge of Elks, the Back Bay Council of the K. of C., and Boston University Law School were among the hundreds of lay friends of Mr. Sullivan, who crowded the edifice for the mass of requiem.

The pallbearers were: Dr. John J. Dowling, Judge George A. Flynn, Sheriff John A. Keliher, Judge John M. Maloney, George M. Harrigan, Bartholomew A. Brickley, Francis J. Carney and Joseph T. Lyons.

Honorary pallbearers were Mayor Malcolm Nichols, Judge Patrick M. Keating, ex-Mayor James M. Curley, Judge Michael J. Murray, ex-Mayor Andrew J. ePters, Major Charles C. Canford, Joseph P. Manning, Dr. Henry Rowen, City Counsel Frank S. Deland, Joseph P. Lyons, John B. Swift, Daniel J. Kane, Thomas F. Dolan and Timothy Walsh.

The solemn requiem was celebrated by a cousin of the deceased, the Rev. W. J. Murphy, S. J., of Holy Cross. Among the priests in the sanctuary were the Rev. James A. Supple of Stoneham, the Rev. Joseph P. Lawless of Cohasset, and the Rev. John J. Fletcher of St. Cecilia's Church.

Chicopee, June 3 (A.P.)—Jail terms totaling four years and fines of $1,000 were imposed today on Mrs. Anna Bula, whose appearance was the result of raids by dry and vice squad officers. She appealed and was held in $4,500 bonds where she already awaits trial on two earlier appealed cases.

1,500 School Boys in Big Hub Parade

Swinging along to the martial airs from a dozen bands, 15,000 Boston high school boys marched in the annual schoolboy parade today.

Slim youngsters, just able to carry a rifle, husky football players, 17 regiments of them, stepped through the down town streets while mothers, fathers, relatives and friends lined the sidewalks and cheered their own as little Johnnie or Jimmy came in sight and passed on, eyes to the front, heads rigid—soldiers all.

One of the most remarkable outfits in the line of march was the boys' band from the Richard Olney School. Not a musician in it was over eight years old and they marched with the regularity of trained bandsmen. They were given a great reception.

From Park square the parade turned into Boylston street, to Tremont street, to Beacon, where the marchers were reviewed by two Governors, Governor Fuller and Governor Ralph O. Brewster of Maine, who was visiting at the State House. The parade ended on the Common, where Mayor Nichols reviewed it and five prizes were awarded to the best looking organizations. Drillmaster Charles C. Ranlette was complimented on the boys' appearance.

After reviewing the boys, Governor Fuller said: "The splendid marching of the Boston school cadets, their alert appearance and orderly formations made a most impressive picture. These marching battalions are a guarantee of our liberty and future security. It was an inspiration to be privileged to review them."

Col. Clarence J. Fisher of Brighton High School was chief of staff and division commander today. On his staff were Lieut.-Col. Anthony Falvo, also of Brighton, Major Loriston Shumway, Dorchester, Capt. Charles S. Sullivan, English; Capt. Harold Rosen, Dorchester; Adjutant Lea Sahagian, Dorchester and Capt. B. C. Emerson, High School of Commerce.

Following the parade a luncheon was given the officers of the regiments by Mayor Nichols at the Hotel Lenox, at which a group of prominent Boston civic, military and municipal dignitaries were present.

Prizes were awarded by the mayor to the folowing regiments for excellence in military appearance:

First prize, 4th Regiment, Boston Latin School; second, 15th Regiment Hyde Park High; third, 5th regiment, Boston Latin; fourth, 11th regiment, High School of Commerce and fifth, 8th regiment, Brighton High School.

A group of six United States army officers posted along various points of the route acted as judges in deciding these awards.

The following school bands were awarded prizes for military musical perfection: first, High School of Commerce; second, English High; third, Boston Latin; fourth, Dorchester High School for Boys and fifth, Mechanic Arts High. Honorable mention: Abraham Lincoln and Oliver Wendell Holmes schools.

Drum Corps awards were: first, Hyde Park High; second, High School of Commerce; third, Dorchester High for Boys; fourth, South Boston High and fifth, Boston Latin. Honorable mention, English High and Brighton High.

The schools represented were English High, Boston Latin, Dorchester, the Dorchester intermediate schools, Brighton, South Boston, High School of Commerce, East Boston, Charlestown, Trade School, Hyde Park and Jamaica Plain.

SEEKS TO SAVE VERMONT MAN FROM CHAIR

A five-year-old child, who twenty-three years ago was crushed to death by a runaway horse at Hanover, N. H., and a yellowing letter may be the means of saving John Winters of Windsor, Vt., from the electric chair.

Stranger than the most fantastic tale of fiction is this story of how the accidental killing of an innocent child has redounded to the aid of the man convicted of slaying Celia Gullivan in her own bungalow at Windsor.

The youth who was frantically trying to check the runaway horse when it crushed the life from the child, was Paul Everett Darrow, son of America's foremost criminal lawyer. The little victim was Harry Arthur Cooley, son of Arthur and Laura Kendall Cooley. Mrs. Cooley is the aunt of John Winters, the condemned slayer.

BATTLE ON TO TEST POWER OF GOODWIN

What promises to be a bitter battle over the alleged stretching of authority by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin, was put on schedule today when the State Public Works Commission granted a hearing to Adolph A. Bartel, New Haven Railroad locomotive engineer.

Bartel whose home is in East Water street, Taunton, seeks restoration of his automobile driving license.

Last February 23 at a grade crossing in Hyannis road on Cape Cod Bartel's gasoline locomotive, running on the New Haven right of way, was in collision with an auto driven by Albert C. Smith of Barnstable.

Charles and Paul Libby, passengers in the automobile, were killed. Smith's license, according to papers filed with the Public Works Commission, was suspended, but he was given a hearing and his license restored.

Goodwin suspended the license of Bartel to drive his auto on the public highways on the allegation that Bartel is an unfit person to operate.

STORROW HERO OF AUTO CRASH; THREE INJURED

James J. Storrow, Jr., millionaire Boston banker and son of the late James J. Storrow, was the hero of an automobile crash on the North Shore road today in which three persons were injured.

The banker, who was on his way to Boston from his Marblehead Neck estate, pulled David Ziskind, aged seventy, and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Bella R. Carlin of No. 12 Stedman road, Brookline, from the wreckage of their car, carried Ziskind to the Storrow machine and then ordered his chauffeur to rush him to the Chelsea Memorial Hospital.

A short time later the banker, his hands and clothing spattered with blood, washed up at the Revere police station as he reported the details of the accident.

Mr. Storrow's car did not figure in the accident.

TWO WOMEN HURT.

Mrs. Carlin, driving a big sedan, was on her way to the North Shore with her father, when their car crashed into the rear of a bus that plies between Beach and Revere streets, Revere. There was only one passenger in th bus, Mrs. John J. Grace of Proctor avenue, Revere.

The heavy sedan crashed into the bus with such force that Mr. Ziskind was thrown half way through the windshield. The front of the car was demolished and the aged man and his daughter were showered with glass from the windows of the sedan which were broken.

Mrs. Grace, who was dropping her fare in the coin box of the bus, was thrown to the street by the force of the collision.

The Storrow car was within a few feet of the bus when the crash came.

LITA TO FIGHT CHAPLIN IN 'RIVAL' SUIT

Los Angeles, June 3 (I.N.S.).—Counter-charges by Charlie Chaplin, that his young wife had love affairs with two men for whom, he said, she neglected her home and babies to attend gay drinking parties, today prompted attorneys for Lita Grey Chaplin to move for a speedy trial of her divorce suit against the film comedian.

With the possibility of a settlement of Chaplin's marital difficulties out of court apparently blocked by the comedian's cross-suit for divorce, Mrs. Chaplin's counsel indicated her answer would be filed next week, thus paving the way for early trial.

Chaplin's suit was in the form of a cross-complaint accompanied by an answer to his wife's divorce action in which he denied her charges of cruelty.

The two men with whom Chaplin alleges his wife associated were not named in the complaint. They were referred to as "a crtain young man" and as an "automobile salesman," whom Chaplin "dislikes" and of whom he "entirely disapproved."

The comedian charged Mrs. Chaplin was "infatuated" with "a certain young man" and continued to associate with him despite her husband's remonstrances, meeting him secretly and inviting him to her home while Chaplin was at work.

His wife confided to friends, Chaplin asserted, that she was "crazy about" an "automobile salesman," with whom she was "being seen in public places, dancing at all hours of the night and drinking liquor."

Chaplin further charged that his wife "habitually occupied her time dancing in hotels, cafes and beach resorts in and near Los Angeles," thereby "absenting herself from her home to the neglect of her two children."

"Too Loving"

Lita Grey Chaplin was a loving wife, Charlie Chaplin charges—but she centred her love upon two other men, and one of them a "salesman," he alleges is looked upon as a public menace.

ASK FOR GUARD AT CROSSING IN FALMOUTH

The only apology for a signal are two old-fashioned, weather-beaten uprights warning motorists to look out for locomotives. Gates are badly needed there in the Summer rush at least. There should be conspicuous signals installed even with a gate tender on the job, because of the peculiar topography at that point.

Natives know that the highway runs fairly parallel with the railroad tracks, but strangers might easily overlook the railroad because of the slight embankment and more particularly because of the natural impulse to admire the alluring sweep of ocean suddenly brought into view.

The sedan bearing the unfortunate party was bound from Woods Hole for Falmouth about 8:30 in the morning. The train was traveling in the same direction. The highway crosses the tracks at an angle of about forty-five degrees. In daylight the uprights are plainly visible but not until an automobile is fairly close. With the wind coming from the east as it was that day the sound of the train might easily have been much diminished or entirely drowned out so far as the driver on the offside of the car was concerned.

The locomotive carried the sedan down the tracks tossing the top into the ravine on the left where the bodies and the unconscious driver were found and the chassis was hurled into the pond beyond. The body was fifty yards from the point of impact and the crushed chassis fully 100 yards from the crossing.

At night Oyster Pond crossing is dreaded even by those familiar with every inch of the road.

There are five grade crossings in Falmouth, all of which have been complained of from time to time and on some of which there have been fatal accidents and quite a few narrow escapes.

TOWNSMEN TO ACT.

Agitation has been waged for years without much relief, according to citizens of Falmouth. The Memorial Day tragedy brought matters to a head. The Board of Selectmen sent a letter to the management of the New Haven Railroad, requesting relief and the matter is to be taken up by the Town Council.

A prominent citizen who asked that his name not be used said:

"There ought to be lights and gates installed at Oyster Pond Crossing or at least a crossing tender. All are needed. The Oyster Pond crossing, hazardous as it is, isn't as dangerous as some of the others.

"But this is a poor time to buck the railroad. We've got to look out for the lean months in Winter in order to retain the service we are getting. It is true that thousands of strangers travel through this section in Summer. They are entitled to the fullest possible protection.

WRITE TO RAILROAD.

"Natives know all the crossings and the drawbacks, but it is different with strange motorists. There are upward of 5,000 outside families that Summer hereabout, to say nothing of the thousands of sightseeing and transients. Something ought to be done and right away to make grade crossings safer. I think a loud automatic bell or siren and glaring automatic signal lights out to be installed, where no gates or man tender can be placed. Railroad crossings ought to stick out like a sore thumb for all to see."

The letter sent to the New Haven management follows:

"The selectmen of Falmouth request that your company immediately protect the railroad crossing south of the North Falmouth station. Also the two grade crossings in West Falmouth, namely, the so-called Landers Crossing and the depot crossing.

"Only yesterday a very narrow escape from a collision occurred at the Landers Crossing. The number of shore cottages on the west side of the railroad tracks has largely increased this year and are opening earlier than usual. A large land development is making a great increase of travel across the depot crossing.

"You are doubtless aware that all travel to Woods Hole by the County Road has been for some time, and will be until August 1, detoured through Falmouth Village, down the Surf Drive over the so-called Oyster Pond crossing.

"Yesterday three persons were killed and one probably fatally injured at this point. We believe that this crossing should be protected so long as conditions remain as they now are."

The Boston Evening American is anxious to reduce this peril as much as possible and calls on the public to help.

If you have any grade crossing in your neighborhood or elsewhere which you consider unnecessarily hazardous, or if you have had a personal experience, kindly forward such information to the Grade Crossing Editor of the Boston Evening American, No. 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

Lauds American's Crossing Drive

The Boston Evening American is to be commended for its drive to reduce the perils of grade crossings. Motor traffic has increased in such enormous volume that conditions should be met by proper safeguards. Economy in this respect is unwise and adds to the danger. Therefore, I consider the Boston Evening American's drive both timely and urgent. It shows proper concern for the public welfare and for conservation of human life. While grade crossings exist they constitute an ever-increasing peril. They ought to be abolished as far as possible. Meanwhile those in operation should be made so conspicuous by sharply defined day and night signals as to be easily distinguished by strangers in time to avoid mishap.

DARROW MAY REDEEM SON'S DEATH PLEDGE

the alma mater of his boy, Paul, who is the biggest thing in his life in his declining years.

When he was through with his lecture and was walking along the college campus he was approached by a bright-eyed, gray-haired woman who asked for a moment of his time.

"I am Mrs. Cooley, Mr. Darrow," she said. "Twenty-three years ago your boy wrote me this letter. I never meant to take his promise seriously, but now—now I am in terrible trouble. And you can help me—if you will."

"If ever I or any member of my family can be of any aid to you or any member of your family, you have only to ask and that service will be rendered," the attorney read.

PAPER YELLOW WITH AGE.

The paper was yellow with age, the writing was faint, but the noted lawyer recognized in the writing the same characteristics that were born when he guided the hand of his boy over the paper when he copied his first lessons for school.

The aunt waited in suspense until the lawyer had finished reading.

Then she told her nephew's story simply, with no attempt to gloss over the hard facts in the case.

"Everything is against him," she concluded, "but I am sure he is innocent. He is innocent—and you—won't you try—can't you—"

"The case already has been tried," Mr. Darrow, in his home here, said today, "but there is an appeal pending."

"Madame, I sympathize with you," said Clarence Darrow.

"The word of a Darrow is as good as his written bond. Rest assured I shall do everything in my power to aid your nephew."

Then the attorney inquired as to the status of the young man's case. Later he got into communication with the lawyers who handled the trial defense.

HUB ATTORNEY THERE.

Attorney Peter J. Maguire of Boston, with offices at No. 560 Tremont street, who was a student at Dartmouth and a classmate of young Darrow, witnessed the accident in which the Cooley child was killed. It was he who carried the lifeless form to the little cottage and placed it in the arms of the heartbroken mother.

According to Attorney Maguire, Darrow and another student were out riding with a horse and buggy. Darrow's companion left the carriage to pick flowers by the roadside. As he returned to the buggy, Darrow dropped the reins to take the flowers from him and in a flash the horse was off at a breakneck speed. Young Darrow did the best he could, but the fear-crazed animal could not be stopped and in its mad flight the hoofs of the animal struck the little Cooley child, who had become frightened at the approach of the runaway and ran across the road directly in its path.

WINTERS' CONVICTION.

The man for whose life Clarence Darrow will battle to requite a debt incurred by his son is now in the death house in the State prison at Windsor, Vt. After a lengthy trial he was convicted of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Celia Gullivan. It was largely circumstantial evidence upon which he was convicted.

Exceptions were filed on his behalf after the verdict was rendered and these exceptions will be heard by the Supreme Court of the State next Fall.

It is when these exceptions come before the court that Clarence Darrow will appear and pit what has been termed "the matchless legal mind" against those who seek to send Winters to the chair.

Chicago, June 3.—Clarence Darrow at his home here today confirmed the story from Vermont that he intends to go there to fight for the life of John C. Winters.

"When Mrs. Cooley showed me the letter my son wrote and told me of the plight of her nephew I told her I would do what I could to save him," he said.

"The young man's lawyers are working on the records. When that work is completed, I shall go East to take part in the presentation of the appeal to the higher courts."

REHABILITATION TRAIN TO AID FLOOD VICTIMS

New Orleans, June 3 (A.P.)—As the flood waters of the Mississippi and Atchafalaya left the affected regions with increasing rapidity, relief agencies today turned to the larger problem of rehabilitating the thousands driven from homes.

The Red Cross announced that a special train would be run through all the parishes affected as a traveling relief headquarters.

"Conferences will be held by Henry M. Baker, flood relief director for the Red Cross; Colonel W. H. Sullivan, chairman of the State reconstruction committee, and committees in each of the towns visited. Agriculture finance corporation loans and Red Cross grants will be made at these conferences.

ALIENIST FINDS LEOPOLD IN GOOD SPIRITS

Chicago, June 3 (A.P.).—Relatives of Nathan Leopold, Jr., maintained today that there was no significance in the visit of Dr. Bernard Glueck, New York psychiatrist, with the youth in whose defense he testified when Leopold and Richard Loeb were on trial for the murder of Bobby Franks.

The alienist talked with Leopold for half an hour in the warden's office at Stateville Prison. When he left, accompanied by two of Leopold's brothers who motored out with him, the alienist denied his visit had any connection with the rumor that he had been retained as medical counsel by the Leopold family, pending a possible petition for an insanity hearing.

Earlier, in conversation with Deputy Warden Frank L. Kness, Dr. Glueck was understood to have expressed the opinion that Leopold seemed to be in better spirits than when he had last seen him at the time of the trial.

Leopold's father, who gave up his own visiting day privilege that the New York doctor might have the visit, said that the meeting had no significance and that Dr. Glueck was there rather as an observer of the entire prison than of his son.

NORTHERN CHINESE SURRENDER HSUCHOW

Shanghai, June 3 (I.N.S.).—Shantung forces, under Chu Yu Pu, have evacuated Hsuchow after a sharp battle with the Nationalists, according to dispatches from Nanking. The Shantungese have withdrawn in the direction of Linching and Yenchow.

New York, June 3 (A.P.).—Nanking University, which ceased to function when Chinese Nationalist troops overran the town several weeks ago, has been reopened with a complete Chinese staff, Dr. Arthur J. Bowen, president of the American University, announced today.

SUSPECT FIREBUG BURNED HOME OF FRANK TINNEY

Baldwin, N. Y., June 3 (I.N.S.).—The home of Frank Tinney, actor, was destroyed today by a fire which police and firemen said was of incendiary origin. The house was unoccupied. Tinney has not been at the house for more than a year and his wife has been away for six months. Firemen said woodwork inside the house had been sprinkled with gasoline or kerosene and the structure had apparently been set afire. The loss was estimated by police at $50,000.

SAFES CRACKED IN FIVE NASHUA GARAGES

Nashua, N. H., June 3 (A.P.).—Five automobile sales garages were entered by safe crackers here today.

The places raided were: Nashua Auto Company, where the safe was opened and more than $2,000 taken; the Nashua Buick Company, Mercer Brothers Garage Company, Inc.; Pollard Auto Company and the Harwood Dee Company.

30 Agree to Make Bird Happy as Owner Travels

New York, June 3 (A.P.).—Thirty friends of Miss Anna Bird Stewart of Fifth avenue are to visit her canary at least once a week in a bird store for three months while she is in Europe.

Until friends acted, the prospective loneliness of the canary, Johnny Doe, 15 years old and blind in one eye, was a problem that threatened to cause the trip to be cancelled.

MORE RAIN IS THREATENED

The spell of fair weather in New England was threatened early today by a storm centre off Cape Hatteras, which may bring showers hereabouts tonight.

At this distance, the coming week-end seems fated to follow its May predecessors into a watery grave, judging by the appearance of two large, intensive storm areas converging on the Atlantic Coast States from Kansas and Minnesota.

June has not thawed northern New England out of its Winter wraps, Northfield, Vt., reporting a temperature of 32 above last night with a killing frost. Forecast for Boston and vicinity:

Partly cloudy, possibly with showers late tonight and Saturday; not much change in temperature; fresh easterly winds.

Robert McKim Ill

Los Angeles, June 3 (A.P.)—Robert McKim, film actor, early today was reported critically ill at the Hollywood Hospital, where he was removed following his arrival from Salt Lake.

MADMAN FREED TO HUNT GOLD ESCAPES

Methuen, June 3.—"Who's looney now?" is the question the Methuen and Salem, N. H., police are asking as they beat through the heavy woods in the Stillwater section in search for Alfred Morley, aged 44, who was turned loose by the authorities of Danvers Hospital to search for buried gold.

Morley, who formerly lived in Phillips street, was sent to Danvers Hospital last November. He told the hospital authorities he had a considerable sum of money buried in the woods near the Merrimac Valley Country Club.

While Morley was rated as of unsound mind, the minute details of the burying of the treasure were so convincingly related that the hospital authorities finally believed him.

The mans' wife, Rachel ,and a friend, William Hickson of Lawrence, were given custody of Morley by the Danvers officials and the three set out for the location of the buried treasure.

When near the Merrimac County Club, Morley said the party would have to leave the machine and go into the woods. He murmured something about a big tree, and the three started beating their way through the brush. Morley gradually edged away from his wife and Hickson. When he had a fairly good start, he took it "on the leg" and nothing has since been seen of him.

Rumanian Cabinet Resigns

Bucharest, June 3 (A.P.).—The Rumanian Cabinet headed by General Fofeza Averescu has resigned. It is indicated that a "National" ministry, as desired by King Ferdinand, will be formed through collaboration of the Liberal, National, National Peasant and Peasant parties.

RUTH SNYDER GETS LETTERS BY HUNDREDS

By RUTH BROWN SNYDER

CHAPTER 10

Copyright, 1927, King Features Synd. Inc.

IN Sing Sing all prisoners' mail is opened. Being a notorious person, I get hundreds of letters daily. Many of them can be classified into groups:

From cranks who have theories whereby I can prove my innocence, make Judd Gray confess he lied, found my appeal or plea for pardon.

From freaks who "love" me or want to marry me.

From women who sympathize with me, many of them young girls, and believe my story and think I was sacrificed a martyr.

From a few sane and sensible people who write decently and seem to understand many things that most people never could.

From no end of couples who want to adopt Lorraine. (Maybe the $100,000 insurance and the house she is supposed to get help that quota.)

ONE LETTER A PUZZLE.

One lengthy letter, forwarded me by my lawyers strikes me as worth reproducing in part. It is not a defense, neither is it an attack. I don't know just what it is.

The writer is Arthur Bragg, 6914 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, a neighbor of where I once lived, but I do not know the writer. He says:

"I am taking the liberty of writing regarding the article appearing in a magazine, X-raying the soul of Ruth Snyder.

"I expected to find out something about the soul, but the jury of talented folks did not appear to me to be very exacting chemists, they give results from outward appearances and outward actions, although I am positive that they all know that this method of analyzing is next to worthless.

ACTION ON THE SOUL.

"Character is formed by the action of exterior forces upon this 'soul,' it is the clay, circumstances the molder; we have as little to do with the molding as we have in the manufacture of the clay. If each individual had precisely the same start, equipped with the same power to fight the same battles, would not the result be exactly the same for each? As soon as there was a deviation in the slightest degree that would denote a difference in the makeup and be a handicap to the one and advantage to the other.

"Do we ask to come here?

"Do we decide the date of our arrival, the length of our stay?

"Do we design our physical appearances, beauty or size?

"Do we make our own characters, the good and the bad?

"Do we choose our parents, their nationality, religion and mundane condition?

"Do we select our earthly environment?

LAW OF ENVIRONMENT.

"As for the date, would Napoleon's ability as a general and soldier have been developed if his duration of stay had been in peaceful times?

"Was Ruth Snyder's power of resistance as strong as Joan of Arc's?

"Almost all of us know a little about the law of gravity, but of a closer law, closer to the welfare of humanity, the law of environment, we know next to nothing, although subconsciously it denotes its recognition in some advance type humans. Occasionally a hero will say, 'Anyone else, in my place, would have done the same thing.'

"Self preservation is the first law of nature, such being the case, does it not necessarily follow that selfishness is a primeval instinct, hence egotism? All of the analyzers are free with the use of their accusations of egoism against Mrs. Snyder; how plainly this shows the nature of their own ego; success spoils more than poverty. Why not have criminals judged by their true peers, other criminals? How can egotistical people judge unsuccessful misfortunates?

DON'T CONDEMN CRIMINALS.

"The criminals are off the front pages, the hero is on, Lucky Lindbergh. Does he know anything about the law of environment when he says, 'I was born under a lucky star. I have a keen power of direction.' Shall we take away his glory? Certainly not. Let's feed glory, fame, reward by the tablespoonfuls; humanity needs its heroes, its Lindberghs, its Lincolns, its Paderewskis. Praise the worthy, the fortunate, the lucky, but don't condemn the others. Let us protect ourselves from the insane, the diseased and the criminal, until we learn how to prevent such personalities, but not punish. Five thousand years of mankind reeks with punishment. Brains that build airplanes, subways, radios and gigantic business enterprises, if applied to criminal problems will give astonishing results. The same energy and expense at the Snyder trial, otherwise applied, could give the answer. I'll gamble on that."

I read the letter over twice, and I have little time left to give to anything. Somehow it made me feel better. I don't know exactly why. It neither damned me nor praised me. But Mr. Bragg seemed to want to say he felt kindly toward me.

Continued Tomorrow.

Devil Will Be Driven From High Place in Wellesley

The old devil who has been on a high perch in Wellesley for many years now is about to be knocked off his lofty place and some would say, at first thought, that a darn good thing it is, too.

But he's only a stone devil and his place is atop the great stone tower on the Baker estate in Grove street, Wellesley, the "Old Curiosity" house whose owner, for some reason or other, had mysterious tunnels and other weird contraptions built into it.

The house is sagging now and the devil has a bit of a slant on, too much so for safety, it has been decided. So it must come down.

GIRL-WIFE ACCUSES HER HUSBAND OF MURDER

Marion, Ind., June 3 (A.P.).—Arthur Walser, 29, of Fairmount, Ind., was confronted today with a confession which, authorities said, they had obtained from his 16-year-old wife, Dorothea, implicating him in the murder of her 12-year-old cousin, Clifford Cox.

The purported confession declared that Walser gave the boy poison to obtain $440 in life insurance carried in Mrs. Walser's favor. Mrs. Walser is held in jail here with her two-months' old baby.

Three Die, Twenty Injured

Berlin, June 3 (A.P.)—Three persons were killed and twenty seriously injured when the environs of Osnabruck, about 70 miles southwest of Bremen, were struck by a cyclone last night. More than 300 houses were badly damaged.

NINE KILLED IN PARIS EXPRESS TRAIN WRECK

Paris, June 3 (A.P.).—Nine persons were killed and seven seriously injured when the Paris-Nimes express, which left Paris last night, ran into the overturned cars of a wrecked freight train near Moulins, 160 miles southeast of this city.

It is believed no Americans were among the casualties. Two third-class coaches and the express car were badly smashed.

CAN'T SUPPLY RUM FAST ENOUGH FOR ONTARIO

Toronto, Ont., June 3 (A.P.).—The liquor supply having failed to keep up with the heavy demand since the ending of eleven years of prohibition on Wednesday, the government today faced a further limitation of purchases.

An order reducing maximum single purchases from two cases to one was announced by the provincial liquor control board. The limit of beer purchase will remain at two dozen quarts. The reduction of liquor allowance will stand until the demand decreases.

Chairman D. B. Hanna of the control board said the regulations provide no set time a tourist must stay in Ontario to qualify for a transient permit.

Public Library Head Raps Censorship

Book censorship, whether accomplished through action of the courts, by hint of district attorneys, from reports of unofficial committees, or as a result of pulpit thunderings, reacts immediately upon the Boston Public Library, causing a "run" on the library copies of the books in question, and at the same time an almost automatic removal of the volumes from circulation, says Charles F. D. Belden, librarian.

"I am sure that nine-tenths of the books banned would not have the slightest effect upon public morals if sensational attention were not drawn to them," he said.

"It is absurd that a great institution like the Boston Library should be forced to keep out of the hands of serious readers books which twenty years from now will be looked upon as depicting actual cross-sections of American life of today."

Recent book lists show that the library's choice of fiction is not of the emasculated type.

MYSTER" STORIES LIKED.

"We do not stick to just goody-goody books," the librarian stated. "We know pretty well what our readers want. We know that detective stroies are always popular. We know that there is always an eager demand for stories of adventure. Oppenheim is always popular; so is Mary Roberts Rinehart."

Latest lists show such authors as Warwick Deeping, Percy Marks, David Lawrence, whose writing may generally be counted upon for glitter and spice. John Erskine, whose "Galahad" is no Sunday School manual, finds a place in the recent additions.

Of the less sensational present-day writers are found no less than five of the Gibbs family, namely, Anthony, A. Hamilton, George, Jeanette Phillip and Sir Philip. Then there are Zane Grey, Hergesheimer, Samuel Merwin, Maurice Hewlett, Henry James, Jr., Dan Poling, Gertrude Stein, W. L. George, Christopher Morley and Louis Tracy.

"Every ten days we receive from 20 to 30 new books," said Mr. Belden.

MANY ARE DISCARDED.

"Half of these are immediately discarded by our reading committee as worthless. These you can always find in the 300 circulating libraries of Greater Boston to be had for a couple of cents a day. From those considered desirable we select as many as our funds permit. We are handicapped by lack of funds for purchase of books, and have to consider the large number of branches to be supplied.

"During the last year we have added 467 new fiction titles, of which 57 were in the juvenile class and 41 in foreign languages; in other words, about one new adult English fiction title for every day in the year. In many cases we bought as many as 30 or 40 copies of a single title.

"Altogether, 8,260 copies of these 467 books were bought. Even at that, we do not have enough to supply our central library and the 31 brinches. The best that we can do is to put four or five copies in the central library; a few in two or three of the most important branches, and the rest in our reserves."

CALLES' DECREE NOT BOYCOTT ON U. S. GOODS

Mexico City, June 3 (A.P.)—The Foreign Office issued an official statement today saying that President Calles' decree instructing governmental departments not to buy in the United States is nowise a boycott against American goods, as the departments were merely ordered to buy in Mexico without considering whether the goods were American or not. The decree is described as intended to safeguard Mexico's financial interests and avoid delays in the receipt of merchandise.

The Foreign Office stated that the cordial relations existing between both governments cannot be affected by the decree.

SOVIET ENVOYS LEAVE LONDON FOR MOSCOW

London, June 3 (A.P.)—The main body of Soviet representatives whose functions were terminated by suspension of diplomatic relations with Great Britain left London by train today.

Communistic songs were sung and red flags waved as the leading members of the Soviet headquarters staff and the trade delegation headed by Charge d'Affaires A. P. Rosengolz, took their departure. There were some boos from others in the crowd. It is understood the party will stop in Berlin for a conference with the Soviet Foreign Minister, M. Tchitcherin, on their way to Moscow.

REAL REDS IN TROOPS TO GUARD COOLIDGE

Washington, June 3 (A. P.)—Indians whose ancestors once trod the warpath of the Black Hills and fought the very cavalry regiment to which they now belong may guard President Coolidge at his South Dakota summer residence.

The Fourth Cavalry, part of which is stationed at Fort Meade, not far from the state game lodge offered to the President as his vacation camp, will provide 50 men and three officers as the executive's guard detail. Recently the regiment took on a number of recruits, including 25 full-blood Sioux Indians.

Fort Meade is one of the last remaining frontier posts. It is commanded by Lieut.-Col Richard Walker, while the regiment is commanded by Colonel Osmun Latrobe, stationed with the remainder of the regiment at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo.

PRINCESS MARY COUPLED WITH MELBA IN HONORS

London, June 3 (A.P.)—A feature of the King's birthday honor list is the number of women admitted to the Order of the British Empire. Princess Mary and Dame Nellie Melba received the grand cross of that order, while Countess Stradbroke, lady Antobus and the others are made dame commanders. The Countess of Lytton is admitted to the Imperial Order of the Crown of India.

Sir Davison Dalziel who first introduced motor cabs into London, and Sir Gilbert Greenhall former president of the Royal Africultural Society, are created barons.

LINDY CHEERED AS HE LANDS AFTER FIGHT WITH FOG

FORCED DOWN IN ENGLAND, BUT IS SOON ON HIS WAY

the embassy during the morning but he went to luncheon in the Bois De Bologne headquarters of the International League of Aviators and again it was demonstrated that the French have not had enough of this young hero for hundreds lined the Bois to cheer him.

At the League of Aviators' luncheon Lindbergh presented the Japanese aviator Abe, through the Japanese embassy, with a trophy for his flight from Tokio to Paris.

He also presented the league's medal to Captain Pelletier D'Oisy for the notable French aviation achievement in 1926, his long flight to the East.

During the luncheon President Clifford Harmon announced that William Randolph Hearst has accepted the presidency of the American division of the league.

"I am leaving tomororw," said Lindbergh, addressing the gathering, "but it would be weeks or even months before I left if the choice were left to me. I will take the first opportunity to return to France."

President Harmon of the League gave Lindbergh one of the league's medals to present to President Coolidge.

Greeted By Swedes

Later in the day Lindbergh attended a reception at the Swedish church.

"Your deeds belong to America, but Sweden is anxious to have at least a small corner in your heart," said Count Ehern, Swedish Minister, welcoming Lindbergh.

Lindbergh, in his reply, declared his intention of visiting Sweden on his next visit to Europe.

Prominent Swedish citizens in Paris welcomed Lindbergh, who was greeted with loud applause. A male choir sang the Swedish and American national anthems, while small children waved the flags of the two nations.

Lindbergh today asked Captain White, naval attache at the American Embassy, to make further efforts to secure the return of his flying helmet which he lost last week while flying over Paris.

"I'd like to have it before I leave, but if you get it later please send it to me," said Lindbergh, who regards this helmet, which he made largely by himself, as a talisman.

Only Afraid of Plane

When Lindbergh was asked if he postponed his flight from London yesterday because he felt he couldn't make the hop against adverse weather conditions, he replied:

"Personally I never had any doubt at all, but remember I was borrowing a plane, and as a guest I couldn't leave until my hosts thought it advisable."

New York to Welcome Lindy With Dinner of 3,500 Persons

New York, June 3 (A.P.).—The largest dinner ever given a private individual in this city will be a feature of New York's three-day welcome to Captain Charles A. Lindbergh.

Thirty-five hundred persons are expected to crowd the East and West ballrooms of the Hotel Commodore for the dinner on the evening of June 15.

Mrs Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of the young flier, has been invited by Mayor Walker to be the guest of himself and Mrs. Walker while New York pays its tribute to the aviator.

LUNCHEON TO FLIER'S MOTHER

Mrs Walker is planning a luncheon on June 11 in honor of the flier's mother.

Failure of the metropolis to be the first city to welcome the airman has not lessened enthusiasm of those in charge of his reception. From the time Lindbergh arrives at Miller field, Staten Island, from Washington on June 14, New York will do its utmost to honor the lone flier of the Atlantic

A river pageant consisting of a fleet of 100 craft of every description has been arranged to escort the municipal tug Macom with Lindbergh from Staten Island to Manhatten, while numerous aircraft will fly overhead.

Prominent among the harbor craft, which will form a vast circle behind the Macom, will be a full-rigged ship to furnish a contrast between old methods of ocean crossing and that demonstrated by the Lindbergh monoplane.

After the parade up Broadway from the Battery the young flier will be greeted at City Hall and from there he will proceed over a brilliantly decorated and illuminated route to Central Park, where he will receive the State's medal of valor from Governor Smith.

Berlin Is Chamberlin's Goal, Says Father at Iowa Home

Denison, Ia., June 3 (A.P.).—The Ballanca plane "Columbia" piloted by Clarence D. Chamberlin, probably will try to reach Berlin, the aviator's father said today. The statement was based upon the last word Chamberlin's parents received from him, indicating his takeoff was imminent.

Vets Plan Convention

The executive committee of the Boston Unit, Massachusetts State Guard Veterans, dined at the Hotel Bellevue, and prepared plans for the State convention which will probably be held in September.

$10,000 STRINGS OF PEARLS FOUND ON CONGRESS ST.

Five pearl necklaces valued at $10,000, found in Congress St. by Joseph E Sager, president of the Electrical Supply Co., after hundreds of persons had ignored the package containing the valuables lying on the sidewalk, were returned to the owner last night before he had discovered his loss.

When Miss Edith Baydone of 912 Winthrop Ave., Beachmont, lost her pocketbook, she realized the way to acquaint the largest number of people with her loss was to insert an ad in the Lost and Found Columns of the American and Advertiser Classified Pages.

After the ad had appeared the second day, Miss Baydone's pocketbook was returned.

Father's $2 Check to Be Presented to Lindbergh

Worcester, June 3 (A.P.).—A gift of sentimental value only is to be presented Captain Charles A. Lindbergh here. It is a check for $2 signed by his late father, Congressman Carl A. Lindbergh, and will be presented by Oscar G. Norseen.

Seventeen years ago at a banquet of the Swedish National Federation here, the Congressman was guest of honor. Norseen was secretary of the federation. The check was in payment for a sleeper ticket on the Worcester to New York train, procured by Mr. Norseen on request of Congressman Lindbergh. The latter had forgotten to repay Norseen and upon returning to Washington next day sent the check. Mr. Norseen has kept it since in memory of the occasion.

SAILOR IS DYING AFTER ATTACK

Resenting remarks hurled at him, Jesus Tinero, 29, member of the crew of the sea-going tug Wellfleet, tied up at the Atlantic Wharf, Border street, East Boston, today beat George Moraitiania, another member of the crew, with a heavy wrench, inflicting injuries that may cause death.

Tinero was captured by a squad of police from Station 7, East Boston, at the point of revolvers, after he had hidden himself in the hold of the vessel. He surrendered without a fight.

Moraitiania is reported in a dying condition at the East Boston relief station. Both arms were broken, his skull was probably fractured, and he received multiple contusions of the scalp, shoulders and legs.

HUB FLIER MAY PILOT PLANE IN N. Y.-BERLIN HOP TONIGHT

Lieutenant Pond, a former Boston newspaperman, was understood to have applied to the Navy authorities for permission to leave the country, which permission is necessary in the case of a reservist.

He is perhaps one of the best-trained fliers in the reserve service and is as well versed in the vaguaries and handling of land planes as he is in those of the sea.

Prepare for Flight

If Lieutenant Pond is to make the trip and the reports hold up, he will go into the air with Chamberlin, on the Bellanca plane, some time before nightfall, and may or may not take the same general route as that followed by Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, who took off just two weeks ago—alone.

It was reported at Curtiss Field, Long Island, N. Y., that the time of takeoff is contingent on the time of arrival of the National Aeronautical Association officials at the field.

Man at the field declared that Charles A. Levine, backer of the flight, telephoned the office of the Aeronautical Association in Washington today, asking that officials be sent to the field to make official record of the takeoff.

There was a later report that Carl F. Schory, chairman of the contest committee of the association left at once for the Long Island field.

James Kimball of the weather bureau in New York said that no request for a special weather report had been made at his bureau today.

"We have been keeping in fairly loose touch with the fliers right along," said Kimball, "but we have received no requests specifically about atmospheric conditions as they are at the moment.

Storms Off the Coast

"If the Columbia people do call up for a report, we shall tell them that the wind is favorable off Newfoundland, but that there is considerable fog and stormy condition off the coast. We have not yet received reports of conditions over the ocean, but there is general clearing on the European side."

Lieut. Pond, who may go on the plane, was in the Naval Reserve even before America's entrance into the war. In 1917 he was a special student at Harvard and was doing newspaper reporting when he was called into service.

In April, 1917, he was enrolled as an ensign and was assigned to sea duty in command of the steam yacht Malay, belonging to Dr. Weld of Boston and converted for war work.

Later the Arlington man went overseas on the United States destroyer Aeylwind, which was in collision with a British warship, but with slight damage.

Lieutenant Pond's next assignment was to the British flying school at Gosport, where he took preliminary aeronautical training and then was returned to the United States for training at the naval flying school in San Diego, Calif.

Is Skilled Airman

Following graduation from San Diego he took the advanced course at Pensacola, Fla. His next training was in the United States Army School at March Field, Riverside, Calif., and then from the Army advanced school at Reamfield, Calif., where he proved himself even more proficient in the handling of land planes.

Until six months ago he was an instructor in aviation at the San Diego Naval School, being transferred from there to the United States Bureau of Aeronautics at Washington, D. C., as test pilot.

Lieutenant Pond won fame last January when he piloted a huge three-motored Fokker monoplane from Jacksonville, Fla., to New York in 11½ hours, carrying a number of Jacksonville officials.

SALUTE OF 21 GUNS TO ECHO THROUGH NATION AS LINDY LANDS

PRESIDENT TO MEET HIM AT MONUMENT

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR.

Washington, June 3.—At every army post and every navy yard and aboard every man-of-war that flies the Stars and Stripes, a national salute of twenty-one guns will be fired as Captain Charles A. Lindbergh comes down the gangplank of the U. S. S. cruiser Memphis at the Washington Navy Yard on June 11.

This is, if a suggestion, for which Major General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the army is given the credit, is adopted by the President's committee in charge of the national reception of the American Ambassador of the Air.

There is ample precedent, it was said, at the War and Navy Departments for Major General Summerall's appropriate proposal. It was by order of President Coolidge that a national salute was fired at Boston when the six young Americans — who were the first of all the children of men to fly around the world, landed at the Boston airport from their globe encircling mission.

The salute, however, was heard only by the people of Boston and the surrounding cities and towns. The national salute in honor of Lindbergh would be heard in every American city and town which boasts an army post, a navy yard or a man-of-war. This salute would be the signal to the forty-eight States and the insular possessions of the United States that the young American Ambassador of the Air was again on the soil of his native land.

MORE HONORS IN STORE.

Meantime other honors are in store for Captain Lindbergh, in addition to a national salute, a colonel's commission in the officers' reserve corps and the greatest honor ever paid a living American upon his return to his native land. In due time he will be awarded also the Roosevelt medal, if recommendations going forward to the commission which awards that decoration are adopted and also a medal from the National Geographic Society.

And a whole bunch of decorations from foreign governments which he was unable to visit owing to his decision to start home this week aboard the Memphis, if these additional foreign decorations arrive in time to be presented by the diplomatic representatives of the governments that intend to add their high honors to those already bestowed by France, Belgium, England and the United States.

Although a committee of four members of the Cabinet designated by President Coolidge and a District of Columbia committee, headed by John Hays Hommond, are engaged in making up the official program for the national welcome to Captain Lindbergh, it may interest the country to know that President Coolidge is personally supervising the whole work of each committee.

KEENLY INTERESTED.

It was said that from the day that Lindbergh landed in New York from San Diego via St. Louis in the beloved plane on his way across the Atlantic, President Coolidge has taken a keener interest in the young man's heroic adventure than in anything that has happened anywhere in the world since Mr. Coolidge came to Washington as Vice President more than seven years ago.

President Coolidge will start from the temporary White House on the day Lindbergh lands, just in time to meet him at the foot of the Washington Monument. In order that the young man may have the whole homage of his countrymen as he comes up Pennsylvania avenue from the Navy Yard, he will be accompanied from the Memphis to the Washington Monument only by the official escort.

In the air this will consist of a representative group of his comrades, who fly the colors over land and sea, and the mails by night and day. On the ground it will consist of a squadron of cavalry, which was the escort assigned for the world flight aviators when they landed four years ago, next September, at the Boston airport, and proceeded from the Army Base to the State House, on Beacon Hill, and is the escort of every President on inauguration day.

It was said by members of the committee at their first meeting to make arrangements for his reception, that Captain Lindbergh probably will be welcomed at Washington by more thousands of his countrymen than have ever assembled in Washington to see a President inaugurated. The railroads are preparing to handle the largest crowd in the history of the capital.

Kangaroo Dances in Joy as Lindy's Plane Is Shipped

Southampton, Eng., June 3 (A.P.)—Capt. Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic monoplane, "Spirt of St. Louis," packed in two long wooden crates weighing three tons, was safely placed aboard the American cruiser, Memphis today.

The Memphis left shortly afterward for Cherbourg, where Captain Lindbergh will embark tomorrow, with Washington, D. C., as his destination.

As the crated plane was being hoisted aboard, the kangaroo mascot of the Memphis hopped about on deck, keeping an eye on the proceedings as if he too, were interested in aviation.

Mother to Meet Lindy at Big Washington Welcome

Washington, June 3 (A.P.).—Hero aviator of the world, Charles A. Lindbergh, will return from the plaudits of the great capitals of Europe to find the loudest acclaim in his own nation's capital when he sets foot in Washington on June 11.

Among the host of American people who will greet the flyer will be President Coolidge and probably the most desired of all, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, his mother and greatest inspiration for the flight. Mrs. Lindbergh will leave her school teaching post at Detroit to meet her son when he arrives here.

The American nation will grant its official token of reward in one of the most notable ceremonies in its history when, in the shadow of the monument dedicated to George Washington and before a vast throng of 100,000 people, the flying hero will receive the Distinguished Flying Cross from the hands of the President.

Lindbergh's welcome to his homeland first will be a gratifying tribute by his fellow-aviators of the Army and Navy, who will darken the skies flying over the Memphis from far out at sea until he docks at the Washington Navy Yard at noon. Fifty-two airplanes, and possibly the naval dirigible Los Angeles, or a non-rigid airship, will accompany the Memphis from the Chesapeake Bay up the Potomac River.

When the Memphis docks Lindbergh will be met by an official reception committee, composed of cabinet members, Army, Navy, Marine Corps and coast guard officers, and leading citizens of the District of Columbia. They will escort him to an automobile in which he will head a parade of soldiers, sailors and marines through the capital grounds and along Pennsylvania avenue to the monument. In his honor all the buildings of the city will be emblazoned on the day of his arrival with flags and bunting.

After the ceremony President Coolidge will take Captain Lindbergh to the temporary White House at Dupont Circle, where the aviator and his mother will remain until Monday, when in his trans-Atlantic plane he plans to fly to New York to receive another great reception.

"Lindy" and Plane Builder Are Jubilant at Meeting

Paris, June 3 (A.P.).—Among the first to rush to greet Captain Lindbergh on his return to Paris today was Benjamin Mahoney, president of the Ryan firm, builders of the "Spirit of St. Louis," the transatlantic plane.

He had been at La Bourget airdrome since dawn, despite fog and a cold wind, and many times had turned his eyes aloft for a sight of the Lindbergh plane.

In the interim he was taken about the field by the commandant and shown the types of French commercial planes in daily use on the air routes.

The greeting between Lindbergh and Mahoney was a joyful one. They clasped hands and congratulated each other on the success of the transatlantic exploit. It was only a short conversation, however, for, after seeing the plane in the hangar, Lindy jumped onto the embassy car and was off to Paris.

Lindbergh Will Be Made Colonel in National Guard

Jefferson City, Mo., June 3.—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh will be made a colonel in the National Guard of Missouri when he returns to St. Louis from his trans-Atlantic flight from New York to Paris, it was learned today from Governor Sam A. Baker.

Detroit, June 3 (A. P.)—So great has grown the flood of letters and telegrams of congratulation pouring in upon Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, mother of Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, that she has been forced to abandon her intention of answering every [illegible]

She has read or hopes to read all of them and, in her words, "with a feeling of reverence" because "almost without exception they bear the message 'I prayed for your son.'"

More than 1,000 letters and perhaps half as many telegrams have been delivered to Mrs. Lindbergh either at her home or at Cass Technical High School where she is employed as a teacher. One day this week she received 400 letters.

Mrs. Lindbergh's housekeeping has been neglected while she devoted her attention to opening the messages of congratulations.

"My one ambition," she said today, "is to get my house clean again."

Paris, June 3 (I.N.S.)—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh was a boy in short trousers when the world war was being fought, but today he was made an honorary member of the Lafayette Escadrille, one of the most famous air fighting units of the war.

At a luncheon at the International League of Aviators Dr. Edmund L. Gros, founder of the Lafayette Escadrille, presented Lindbergh with a medal making him the only honorary member of the Escadrille.

"When you arrived, I heard a French woman say, 'I think it is the spirit of our son coming back to us'," said Dr. Gros. "You represent the incarnate spirit of all the fliers who died during the war. Had you been old enough we know that you would have been one of the first to offer your life if necessary to France."

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Bostonians of Note Sail Tomorrow Aboard Liner Paris for Summer in European Playgrounds

THE STEAMSHIP PARIS, AS BUSY SMALL TUGS NOSE the giant liner out into the stream tomorrow and turn her prow toward France, will have aboard several Boston people, about whom shines the aura of importance, social, artistic or professional. It's a very interesting company. F. Murray Forbes, of "Deserie" in Wellesley, sails to the other side, after having hung up in the trophy room of his fine old home several ribbons garnered by himself and his small daughters at the recent Chestnut Hill Horse Show.

THE FAMILY OF JEAN JACQUES HAFFNER SAILS ON THE PARIS to their homeland, a party of four, Mr. and Mrs. Haffner and their daughters, Miss Francoise and Miss Monique. They will make their usual all Summer stay in France and on the Continent. Dr. Harvey Cushing takes his young daughter, Miss Betsy Cushing, on the steamship Paris for a jaunt about Europe. Dr. Richard M. Smith and the very handsome Mrs. Smith are on the list of the Paris for this June a sailing.

HENRI ROYER, PORTRAIT PAINTER OF RENOWN, IS A passenger to his beloved patrie on the Paris. M. Royer has let the light of his countenance shine on the Boston smart world, during a portion of his stay in this country. And during that time he has for portrait subjects several Bostonians of the Four Hundred whose pocketbooks are of the well filled sort that permit indulgence in such luxuries. Among others, a notable establishment in lower Commonwealth avenue, town house of one of the first families, houses a new Royer portrait.

EN PASSANT, A VERY REMARKABLE PORTRAIT OF MISS Katharine Chapman Warren has recently come from the brush of the noted Armenian painter and poet, Kahil Gibson. Miss Warren is now in town preparing her part in the Repertory Episode (to be a part of the pageant at Weld next Thursday), wherein she reads the prologue, wearing a most gorgeous golden gown and headdress. Immediately after the Weld affair Miss Warren departs for the Summer to Whitefield, up in the New Hampshire hills, where a pleasant duty is to be hers, bridesmaid for Miss Lucy Chase, when, on June 28, she becomes Mrs. David Sparks at a lovely country wedding.

A VERY SPECIAL AND HONORED GUEST AT THE WEDDING celebration tomorrow of Miss Mary Mathews and J. Howard Wing will be the blonde and attractive young woman who was Miss Clarissa Curtis, of Boston and Nahant, and now is the spouse of the popular Prince Michael Cantacuzene, once importantly placed in Russia's court circles, and now a resident of the United States. The occasion of the Mathews-Wing wedding brings the Princess eastward at this moment and she plans to stay on for the Summer.

SHE WILL, AS USUAL, BE AT "PELHAM CLARE," THE SUMMER home of her parents, the "Tom" Curtises, with whom she invariably spends the heated season, and as usual the Prince will join his family for a month or more later on. The Princess brings with her an interesting small member of the household, the little Irina, who has been given this charming old family name for her own. There will be much quiet feting of the Princess during her Nahant stay.

ALSO A REGULAR OF THE NAHANT SET THAT MAKES rendezvous in the small and smart colony on the lovely shore just to the northward is Mrs. Curtis Guild. Mrs. Guild's town house in Marlborough street is being closed for the Summer and her household is established for a long season at Nahant. The Nahant Club, about whose hospitable portals so much of the colony's neighborly social existence centers, is already open, and the weekly dinner-dances go on the tapis in two weeks or thereabouts.

IN CASE THE ELEMENTS ARE TODAY UNKIND TO THE CHARITY fete held in the Longfellow estate, everything goes over until tomorrow when the entire and many sided affair unfolds itself, to the benefit of the Neighborhood House. Miss Jean and Miss Caroline Read and Miss Polly Nesmith are waitresses for the afternoon, and lend their help, in fact, when and wherever necessary. All Cambridge is behind the fete, which commences early in the afternoon and does not end until nearly midnight.

EVELYN EGAN, FILM STAR, IS DYING AFTER CRASH

Los Angeles, June 3 (A.P.).—Evelyn Egan, twenty, motion picture actress, was probably fatally injured when she drove her automobile into a steam shovel on a Hollywood boulevard.

Her head was crushed, and at the receiving hospital where an emergency operation was performed, it was found necessary to remove her left eye.

FRANK TINNEY'S HOME BURNED; LOSS $50,000

Baldwin, N. Y., June 3 (A.P.).—The unoccupied home of Frank Tinney, comedian, burned here today, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. Police declared the fire had incendiary origin and firemen said the woodwork inside the house had been saturated with gasoline or kerosene.

Tinney has not lived in the place for more than a year. His wife has been away for six months.

JOIN FUNCTIONS AT WELLESLEY

For the first time in its history Wellesley College today combined its academic procession with scholarship day, giving its honor students first places in the long line of scholars, in cap and gown, who marched to the college chapel to attend the last service of the year.

The service was led by President Pendleton, who dwelt on the responsibility of those endowed with special intellectual powers. She stressed their obligation to carry on. Since their responsibilities privileged them to enjoy pursuits, intellectually and scientifically.

The faculty marched first with Wellesley members of the Phi Beta Kappa following, led by Dr. Alice Walton, president of the Wellesley chapter. The Durant scholars, who rank highest after the Phi Beta Kappa, came next. Then the sophomore honor scholars in white and then the seniors in academic cap and gown.

32 GRADUATE AT HUNTINGTON SCHOOL

Thirty-two members of the graduating class of the Huntington School of Boston were awarded their diplomas today at the annual commencement exercises held in Bates Hall at the Boston Y. M. C. A.

The commencement oration was delivered by Mayor Edwin C. Child of Newton, after which the scholarship medals for the year were presented by Headmaster Charles H. Sampson.

Sidney C. Palmer of Medford, a member of the graduating class, was presented with the Huntington Honor Shield, which is awarded to the student who each year does the most for the school.

The medal winners were: William Lundy Hitchock, Gordon Arnold Campbell, Lan Tue Moy, Dennison Bancroft, Frank Copeland Holbrook, Randal McGavock Robertson, Barnard Peale Todd and Ralph Franklin Jonas.

The diplomas were presented by President Frank Palmer Speare, president of Northeastern University. Following are the members of the graduating class:

Arthur Bernard Esty, William Paige Hamblet, Edwin Maurice Westendarp and Kenneth Roswell Zwicker.

B. U. CLASSES WILL GATHER ON JUNE 11

Boston University classes will have reunions when, for the first time in more than fifty years of existence, all those B. U. graduates who are able will attend the alumni ceremonies on June 11. Every class from that of 1877 to that of 1927 will be represented, Alumni Secretary Robert F. Mason has announced.

All the gatherings will precede the general all-university get together in the evening. Two of the newer departments, the School of Religious Education and the School of Education, will have departmental reunions.

SHEFF BOYS PLAY WITH FIRE AND DERBY HATS

New Haven, Conn., June 3 (A. P.) —Scores of derby hats went up in smoke on the Yale campus when seniors of the Sheffield Scientific School staged one of the unique ceremonies that mark the close of the college year.

A huge bonfire had been prepared and as the members of the Sheff fraternities left their halls, they marched about the pile of inflammable material and, after singing college songs, tossed their hats into the flames.

Carmel Maruca, who reported to the police an hour before the bodies of the two girls were found that his car had been stolen, is in custody. He steadfastly [illegible] knowledge of the tragedy. His brother, Samuel, [illegible] father of two children, [illegible] and has not been seen since Wednesday night.

The victims of the tragedy were cousins and both resided in Wilkesbarre. They left home early in the evening and were not again heard from until their bodies were found.

The bodies lay on opposite sides of the road. Underclothing of one was found 100 feet away and nearby a wrecked car, later identified as that of Carmel Marcini. On the shattered windshield were found hair of a man and some torn flesh. Two bullets had been fired into the brain of Miss Monica and she had been choked and blackjacked. Miss Fenzo had been shot through the head and an attempt had been made apparently with a razor to behead her.

Andrew P[illegible] of Boston settlement told State police he was driving home about [illegible] and saw two men running at a point near the scene of the tragedy.

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN FLOATING HOSPITAL HULK

Flames, which destroyed the Floating Hospital Wednesday night, sprang again into life early today, attempting to complete their work of destruction.

However, a watchman on North End Pier saw the flames and telephoned the alarm. Ladder 1, Engine 8 and Fireboat 47 quickly put an end to the incipient blaze which had nothing but ruins and ashes to feed upon, in any event.

bear sitting on the dunce's stool. General Motors sold above 201, enthusiasts buying more than 148,000 shares of it.

"NEW STEEL," forty shares given to every holder of 100 old shares, began its Wall Street career selling at 127. Thus the Steel "melon" of $200,000,000 turns out to be worth $250,000,000 today.

Selling things in the United States "short" is a little dangerous.

SETBACKS may come, but remember that we haven't started yet on the road to prosperity. A field depends for fertility on water and fertilizer, a nation on wages and spending power. Labor once got $1. It now gets $5. It will get $10.

But don't gamble; you will lose if you do.

UNDER CERTAIN circumstances it is hard to know what to say. Mr. Henry Judd Gray, in the death house because he helped Mrs. Snyder to murder the latter's husband, is visited by his wife, who said, "How are you?" The ordinary American answer would be, "Fine and dandy." But you can hardly use that answer in the death house. Those interested in the "ask me another" pursuit might think up answers for a husband whose wife asks "How are you?" as he sits in the death house.

WE KILL each other less frequently than we did. In 1925 murders mounted to 11 per 100,000 population. In 1926 the United States murder average fell to 9.9 per hundred thousand in twenty-eight cities of the United States. The odds are better than 10,000 to 1 that you will not be murdered this year. We worry about death by violence because it is dramatic. Ninety-nine per cent. of us neglect ordinary precautions that would prevent consumption, cancer, Bright's disease and heart failure, sure to kill more than 50,000 in every 100,000 of us.

MRS. MEDILL McCORMICK, widow of the Senator from Illinois, and daughter of Mark Hanna, tells President Coolidge she intends to run for Governor of Illinois next year. That will help make 1928 interesting. Mrs. McCormick, very earnest, inherits much of her father's power. She will make an interesting campaign.

SOME ARE SURPRISED that Lindbergh should watch the Derby without betting. They needn't be surprised. Lindbergh has work interesting and exciting. Men gamble to get artificial excitement, something to take the place of effort worth while.

SECRETARY MELLON calls in $1,697,000,000 "Second Liberty Bonds," and will give in exchange bonds paying 3⅜ per cent. Two hundred millions of these bonds are sold for cash and the banks scramble to get them at a premium. This one piece of financing will save enough money to build the greatest fighting air fleet in the world and put this country beyond danger of attack. WHY NOT DO THAT?

3 CLAIM 'CURE' FROM BANNED 'RELIC'

Hartford, Ct., June 3 (A.P.)—Relief of physical ailments was reported by three Hartford women who had viewed the relic, claimed to be part of the Holy Cross, shown here by Theresa Moser, Jersey City school girl. One of the women is a non-Catholic.

The Hartford showing of the two splinters of wood which had been denounced by the Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, bishop of the Hartford diocese of the Roman Catholic church, as "peddling of the cross," has been concluded here, and the girl and her father plan a showing of the relic tonight at an Astoria (L. I.) home.

Girl Who Owns "Relic" Is of No Church, Says Mother

Jersey City, N. J., June 3 (A.P.)—Theresa Moser, eighteen, who has been exhibiting in Hartford Ct., a gold and silver monstrance containing a miniature cross said to have been made from two splinters of the wooden cross on which Christ was crucified, is not a member of any church.

This statement was made today by her mother, Mrs. [illegible] Moser, who said that Theresa, one of five children, had not been baptized or confirmed in any denomination whatsoever. Mrs. Moser is an orthodox Austrian Jewess, she said, while her husband, who has been in Hartford with Theresa, was born a Roman Catholic, but is irregular in his attendance.

Mgr. Joseph H. [illegible] of All Saints Parish, in which the family lives, said he was not interested in the relic, had never seen it and did not intend to do so. [illegible] he heard of any cures effected by it. He also discredited Miss Moser's reported statement in Hartford that she was exhibiting the relic to [illegible] funds with which to build [illegible] here.

Woman Leading War on Road Houses

Story of a Girl Who Asked That Life Should Pay Her in Full

With a pledge of undying love, the romance of Roen Ross and Michael Scott opens. Roen is young, with an ardent and beautiful spirit. She is 18, and on a Gloucester vacation when she meets the happy hearted college lad. Michael returns to his course in Cornell; Roen to her job as private secretary for James Burton, manager of a Kilby street insurance office. They look with glowing faith to a joyous fulfillment of their love when years of waiting are done. Roen is the sole support of her invalid mother, "Dearie," and her adored little brother, "Jackie." For Jackie she plans a brilliant education. When she is overburdened, Burton, her employer, pays court. Dearie urges acceptance, seeing in a rich marriage the solution of all their difficulties. Roen cannot betray Michael. She refuses Burton, promising to marry Michael. Roen sees that she cannot bring Michael to her mother's home. Dearie becomes ill: so there can be no question of marriage for another year. Michael's understanding and sympathy deepen Roen's love.

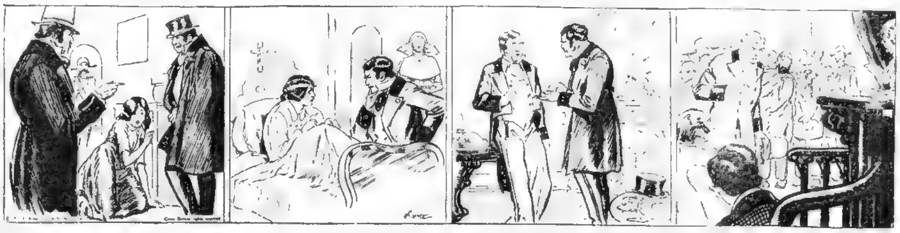
Les Miserables

By Victor Hugo



JEAN VALJEAN learned of the sad case of one of the former women workers in his factory, Fantine. She had been discharged because of something against her in her past. She became ill and sank lower in the social scale. One day a man on the street insulted her; she attacked him in a sudden fury and was arrested.

JAVERT, the police inspector, wanted to imprison Fantine, but Jean Valjean, the Mayor, sent her to the hospital. Javert hated him for this. The girl was really dying and in the hospital she told her sad story to Jean Valjean—how she had gone to Paris, fallen in love, and finally borne a child.

AFTER the Mayor told Fantine that he would care for her child, a little girl of seven, Javert came to him and apologized for suspecting him of being Jean Valjean, the ex-convict. He said the real Jean Valjean had been found and was about to be tried in another village for the crime of stealing forty sous from a child!

COTTON GOODS PRICES RISE

R. G. Dun & Co., Weekly Trade Review in this week's issue will say regarding trade conditions in Boston: Although there has been an improvement in the principal industries, their rate of activity still is below that of last year, and with the falling off of retail sales, due to unfavorable weather, business during the past month in most lines has been from 5 to 10 [illegible] below [illegible] of the [illegible] two years. [illegible] Boston [illegible] down a steel [illegible] Cotton goods prices have been advanced [illegible] and the market is moderately active.

Print goods are in fair demand and ginghams are selling better, but the most calls are for sheetings and a few lines of specialties.

The wool market is looking forward [illegible] wool is moving. The principal call is from the woolen mills and the carpet lines.

Receipts of wool are moderate with consumption figures below those of last year. Sales of the women's wear lines still are light, but there is a better demand for the men's lines, and overcoatings are quite active.

Some mills are running overtime, but the general level of activity is only fair. Wool prices are firm. Worsted yarns are selling a little better, and there is a slightly firmer tendency in the market.

NEW BYERS STOCK TO BE OFFERED TO HOLDERS

O[illegible] of the Crosley A[illegible] radio was a [illegible] the mahogany [illegible] the $[illegible] of [illegible]

Fifteen minutes later we snapped the switch and the programs started. Since that day, four weeks ago, they have never stopped coming. They have come in great numbers, from distant points, and in steady [illegible] energy which comes from the lamp socket. The power tube makes this a set with great power capabilities.

For getting programs the owner [illegible] of the Crosley AC-7 needs only the one drum. In fact you cannot turn any more because there aren't any more. The one drum is so large that the names of the stations can be written thereon.

We mentioned that this was an electric radio. The power unit gets its ambition from the alternating [illegible]

by C. WILLIAM RADOS

IN ORDER to present both sides of the trouble we interviewed a small number of largely known radiolas. All had about the same old statements to make on the present Radio Commission.

Letskill Joy, Ph[illegible] and Grayman MacPutee of WEAF had the following comments to [illegible] "Our wavelengths are the best [illegible] because we reason [illegible] You add a couple [illegible] and [illegible] "Tain[illegible]

Ho[illegible] the big oyster-cracker and condenser man from First Mach[illegible] confidently stated that each new set he makes will carry an extra box of wavelengths, "since the Radio Commission itself doesn't know what it is going to do next we want to be on the safe [illegible] With the coming of Fall we expect to put on a special brand of heated wavelengths."

Sergeant O[illegible] and Patrolman [illegible] of the Roxbury Police station refused to make any statement. "However," they added "We [illegible] warn the government that any drop in post cards from New Zealand [illegible] will be retaliated by [illegible]

The radio law passed a few months ago by Congress has never been passed upon by the Supreme Court. Since it involves the private interests of hundreds of stations, a great pressure is being exerted to keep the lawyers busy for some months. The attorneys-at-law don't care if it is never settled and neither do some of the stations.

[illegible] here in the northeastern part of the country we do not appreciate the complications of radio elsewhere. All we ever hear about are the two New York chains, WEAF-WEEI and WJZ-WBZ. [illegible] apparatus, and advertising contracts.

Distant reception is never absolutely certain. A station has spent months perfecting its wavelength to a steady, best point. If they must start all over again, the advertisers [illegible]

These stations are great competitors of the National Broadcasting Company. The radio stations are [illegible] because they have the [illegible] fighting to pro[illegible]

Pete Latzo Defends Title Against Dundee

CHAMP IS FAVORED TO WIN

Dundee Expected to Put Up a Terrific Fight to Wrest Welter Crown

New York, June 3 (A.P.) With the so-called "expert" opinion sharply divided as to the outcome, Pete Latzo, world's welterweight champion, and Joe Dundee, the Baltimore challenger, will settle their differences over the 15-round route tonight at the Polo Grounds.

[illegible]

Rickard Says Title Go Will Top $2,000,000

By Jack Conway

"TEX RICKARD was only spoofing last Fall when he said that no heavyweight match would ever top the $1,800,000 gate which was drawn by Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney at the Sesqui-Centennial Stadium," declared Mr. Boston on his return to town today after having watched Ace Hudkins, Nebraska Wildcat, burst the Al Mello championship bubble.

[illegible]

Mr. Boston

[illegible] me a lot of trouble last year as he persisted [illegible]

"MY heavyweight elimination tournament was a little bit dead up to the time Sharkey knocked Maloney over. [illegible]

[illegible] said he would. [illegible]

"THERE will be a wild scramble for seats when Tunney and Sharkey meet. I would like to stage [illegible] New York. [illegible] with a $25 [illegible]

[illegible] would never enter a ring again."

LATZO SAYS:

I'LL be in there doing my best and I think that will be good enough to win. I realize that Dundee is the best of the welterweight contenders and I expect a hard battle.

I'm going to be strong at the weight in spite of all the talk going around and I'm going to try for a knockout.

There will be no holding back on my part. If I get an opportunity to stop Dundee in the first round you can bet I'll make the best of it. At any rate you can depend on me to come out the champion.

Farrell and Turnesa 4 Up at End of 18 Holes

[illegible]

Johnnie Farrell and Joe Turnesa piled up a comfortable lead on George Duncan and Archie Compston during the outward holes, having a four hole advantage at the turn. They still held a four hole advantage at the end of the 18th hole.

'TWIXT TEE AND CUP

By C. WILLIAM RADOS

Worcester Country Club June 3 – As we rode up to the Worcester Country Club we were impressed by two things, the beautiful setting and the number of ticket sellers. We had to buy so many tickets that we were left with only 39 cents when we finally arrived at the end of the long road.

[illegible]

The opening tee-off was beautiful but the boys did not display much excitement or enthusiasm. If the teeser had to keep all this grass cut for a week we think they would show much more pep.

[illegible]

DUNDEE SAYS:

I'VE got the highest regard for Latzo both as a man and a champion, but I'm sure I'll be too good for him. I've had the welterweight title as my goal ever since he won it from Mickey Walker and I feel that it will be mine after the Latzo bout.

Somehow, I feel that Latzo will not be ready for what I've got in store for him. Remember I've got nothing to lose and I'll be in there every minute taking every gamble for the big stake. Latzo's good, but I think I'll be better.

— there's no other taste within miles of this!

NO, SIR! No added sweetening. And here's the big point—nothing left out, either. All the tobacco goodness kept; every last bit of spicy aroma and mellow fragrance that fine tobaccos give.

There's nothing anyone can add that would improve the taste or smoking quality of Chesterfield.

For natural tobacco taste—for smoothness, mildness, and real character, there's nothing within miles of it!

— pure natural tobacco taste — that's it!

McNamara on Way Up
Should Play in Hub
Native Players Pay
Dinny Ripe for Trial
Ryder Cup Matches
Ted Ray a Wonder

By Nick Flatley

BOSTON SHOULD SNARE BOSTON MATERIAL

DINNY McNAMARA, Boston College baseball captain, will step into the big leagues just as soon as he clutches his sheepskin later on in the month. Scouts of half a dozen major teams have been looking over the fleet Eagle, and all have pinned the Okay sign on him.

The youngster has a bunch of offers, and one of these days will be making up his mind which to accept. Both Boston clubs have put in bids for the boy athlete, and it would seem that either the Braves or the Red Sox should get him.

Nick Flatley

The native product pays in baseball. Little Walter Gatreau came to the Braves, and proceeded to fill the ball yard shortly after he arrived. Although he hasn't been playing as a regular, he still holds the fancy of the gang, and there is always a big turnout when it's known that Walter will be on the job. He pays the club dividends as an investment, if not as a player

Young Mister McNamara is a very popular kid. And he has class. He's fast as a shadow, can throw the ball, and is leading the college hitters of the country by something like 50 points

He has been taught a lot of real baseball by the shrewd Jack Slattery, and is ripe for a trial. The Cincinnati Reds, the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics are all after him. But he should play in Boston

John McGraw announced a couple of years ago that he would pay $100,000 for a good Jewish ball player. He wanted to satisfy a big class of his Polo Grounds customers.

Here in the Irish city of Boston, a native Irish athlete, as Dinny is, should be a mighty fine business proposition He would more than bring back the cost of signing him, while he was trying to make good

PLENTY FOR GOLFERS AT WORCESTER TODAY

GOLFERS who like to watch as well as play their game will have plenty of chance these two days down at Worcester, where the best of English and American pros are having it out. The Ryder Cup matches have become one of the greatest of all international sport features

Americans have been beating the English at golf in recent years, but [illegible] more to the American competitive spirit than to any pronounced superiority in the actual game

The Britishers play the game as naturally as they breathe. They take it up when they are kids and never drop it. They do not strive for [illegible] and improvement as our players do, because they do not think it necessary. Consequently they lose the short end quite often when they [illegible] one of our intensive campaigns

The present English team has plenty of interesting individuals [illegible] seasoned vets. Youth does not seem to kick aside the old stager across the pond, as it does here. Probably the boys have more reverence for age, or something.

Ted Ray, who is fifty years old, continues to be one of the world's greatest golfers. He commits more sins against form, as we know it, than most novices, but he gets results. And he refuses to let the young [illegible] push him off his perch, very close to the pinnacle

Ted who was an old timer when Francis Ouimet beat him at Brookline fourteen years ago, is worth a trip to Worcester all by himself

MILLWOOD HUNT SHOW OPENS

Society Folk Ride Thoroughbreds in 2-Day Affair at Waveney Farm, Framingham

Framingham, June 3.—Perfect weather conditions prevail here today for the fifth annual horse show of the Millwood Hunt Club wheih is being held at Waveney Farm, Framingham Centre.

The first competition of the day, the Combination Horses event, was won by Brilliant Man, the McKinney Bros. entry. In the competition for hunters and jumpers M[illegible] the Louis K. Liggett entry was awarded first prize. Gonna Bey, owned by Mrs. Horace Cr[illegible] was second, while All Adrift of the Mrs. Gardiner H. Fiske stable, was third. Fourth prize was won by [illegible], who is owned by Harry Go[illegible].

Hackroth [illegible], representing the Charles V. B. Cushing stables won the event for middleweight hunters. James W. Appleton's Grey Boy was second, while third place was awarded to Miss S[illegible] Stone[illegible], wall, Dawn, of the R[illegible] and Salton stall stable was fourth.

All Adrift gained the second prize of the day when he won the versatile class competition. Sir F[illegible], another Louis K. Liggett horse, was second, while third prize went to No No Nanette, a horse owned by Miss Clarissa G. Dorham.

The riding competition was won by the McKinney Brothers entry.

A thousand schoolboy athletes from 150 high schools in thirty-three States made this year's entry list the largest since A. A. Stagg conceived the event nearly a quarter of a century ago.

GENE SHOWS HOW TO DUCK AND HIT

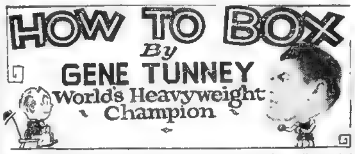
EAGLES OFF FOR FORDHAM TILT

Boston College's baseball nine will play its second game for the Jesuit College diamond title with Fordham University at New York tomorrow afternoon. The Eagle ball squad, with Coach Slattery, leaves the Hub this afternoon.

Boston College has a win over Fordham to its credit. The Eagles beat the Maroon 4-1 on Alumni Field last month. Lefty S[illegible] beat the New Yorkers in the first fray.

Lefty is due to be on the slab again tomorrow. [illegible] has been pitching fine baseball during the past month.

Bo McMenimen, varsity catcher of the Eagles, is not expected to make the trip with the squad. Bo suffered a split thumb in the triple game and had to be removed from the firing line in that series. [illegible] O'B[illegible] [illegible] will do the receiving at Fordham.



HOW TO BOX

By

GENE TUNNEY

World's Heavyweight Champion

EDITOR'S NOTE.—This is the sixth of a series of ten illustrated articles by Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, on "How to Box."

A RIGHT cross is one of the most devastating of all punches. Every great fighter has used it, and I dare say more knockouts have been scored with it than any other punch.

It differs from a straight right hand for the reason that, as this illustration shows, it is delivered from an angle, whereas the straight right hand, as the expression implies, is driven straight forward. Furthermore, the right cross differs from other blows in so much as it is commonly used as what is known as a "counter punch."

[illegible] of a [illegible] of [illegible] make your opponent [illegible]. When he does, you [illegible] a old [illegible] left and repay him with a right cross.

In case you cannot entirely avoid his left, you [illegible] length and then drive home your right cross.

As you will note in the illustration, my sparring partner [illegible] his left [illegible] for my face. As he did this I stepped inside his punch [illegible] to my own left. Even as I [illegible] I shot out the right cross for the chin.

You can see that while I was in the position I had to assume after slipping inside his left, I could not hit him with a straight right hand. For to land a straight right hand, I would have had to wait some time [illegible] directly at him to deliver a straight right.

But, I was in perfect position to throw a right cross. With it, as the picture shows, I [illegible] at an angle from my own right slightly toward my left.

To learn the right cross assume the correct boxing position with some playmate. Then let him lead a slow left hand at your face. As [illegible] I shift [illegible] and a [illegible] [illegible] As [illegible] and forward [illegible] just as [illegible] punching.

Then let your companion [illegible] with a [illegible] stepping and [illegible] lead and then let [illegible] cross for your [illegible] at this [illegible] the more [illegible] become.

I want to [illegible] SLOWLY AT FIRST. [illegible] going at slow [illegible] guard [illegible] carefully with this [illegible] and a [illegible] right cross.

Then you can [illegible] [illegible] first [illegible].

Of course, it has been said that a HOMELY girl who has shapely ANKLES and wears [illegible] SHEER, attracts ATTENTION AWAY from her face. IS that the IDEA?

The THEORY may be RIGHT, but in PRACTICE it Works DIFFERENTLY with a man. For some TIES are so GLARING no woman Could ever get PAST THEM.

Whereas, when a GIRL'S silken-clad ANKLES are Interesting they not only ATTRACT, but Create INTEREST and awaken Hope which is MORE than the GAYEST little TIE could do.

No more soaking HANDS in dirty mop water

STANDING ERECT, YOU TURN THE HANDLE GRIP—THE MOP IS WRUNG!

Keep them clean · dry · safe with this mop that wrings itself

Wringing a sopping dirty mop cloth with your hands! Ugh, how you hate to do it.

Just the idea of putting your hands in the grimy water is disgusting enough. But if soap and water and scrubbing will make them clean again, it cannot restore their fine soft texture. Mopping is ruinous to hands, to nails. Or, rather, it always has been until now.

No other mop like this

Now you can get a Betty Bright, a mop that you wring merely by turning the handle. No stooping over; no straining wrists; and you need never touch your hands to the mop water.

The Betty Bright glides into corners, under the stove and table and close along the baseboard with no splashes or streaks to wipe off afterwards!

With a cloth of soft cotton strands, as absorbent as most cloths twice its size, the Betty Bright will do a better job, do it faster. You can use hotter water since your hands never touch it.

Light as a broom, yet sturdily built, without springs or gears, all metal parts rust-proof, it will last unusually long. And you can replace the cloth with another Betty Bright or one you make yourself.

Have one before you mop again

Get for yourself this wonderful mop that wrings itself—that keeps your hands clean and dry and safe. The Betty Bright Mop complete with cloth costs only $1. At leading department, grocery and hardware stores.

Dealers who do not have the Betty Bright Mop should write or phone Parker-Regan Corporation, 925 Broadway, New York City.

A Startling Serial Story of Love, Terror and the Night Clubs

Chapter 51.

SCITUATE . . . a succession of houses, unlike and slumbering in the night . . . a less populated section of the place; and then, with the nearest house a distance away, one two-story dwelling with the windows utterly black

For hours Jacqueline had been tossing sleeplessly on the bed in a corner room. The passage of time instead of soothing her nerves and bringing resignation, had served only to increase the tension that had tightened her nerves almost to the breaking point since Lupino's death threat to Tom. Sleep, in the [illegible] sense of the word, was impossible for her [illegible] but from time to time there were short spaces of semi-consciousness . . . half delirium.

This . . . her wedding night . . . every implication of marriage prohibited . . . [illegible]

The cold quaking fear in her heart that Lupino [illegible] she had complied with his conditions [illegible] Tom, grew more intense as the hours dragged [illegible] Would he, indeed, should his [illegible] spare the man who [illegible] impossible for her [illegible]

Yes, despite its fantastic elements [illegible] the part of [illegible] to Julius Lupino—a [illegible]

She Tried to Shake Off the Numbness That Overcame Her

Yes, Lupino had been right. She would give Tom Ware up forever, rather than see him under certain danger of death from a [illegible] lurking in any one of a thousand [illegible] Over and over this consideration had revolved in her mind [illegible] and [illegible] in an atmosphere of terrified exhaustion.

In the beginning she had been [illegible] Even while the shock of sudden separation was fresh upon her, she had marveled at the coincidence of May Desmond's meeting her outside of Tom Ware's apartment; had been [illegible] suspicious of the girl's story that she had merely been in that part of town by accident.

Now, however, none of this scarcely mattered. At the moment of her panicky flight from the apartment, May Desmond had appeared and offered her shelter, companionship. Together they had gone to this house occupied by [illegible] In the torment of grief Jacqueline was unable to go behind the [illegible] fact.

Later, when her apprehension had grown even more acute [illegible] felt the necessity of warning Tom to get out of town and away from Lupino's [illegible] agreed to carry him a message.

What Jacqueline did not know was that May Desmond had been intending all along to return to the city that night, at the command of Lupino, to report on Jacqueline and that the projected delivery of the message offered a reasonable excuse for the trip.

Nevertheless, May had been sincere and by hook or crook, would have delivered the message had she not met Tom at the Sea She [illegible]

If Jacqueline was hazy at some of the bewildering details of her situation, the fact remained that she was [illegible] of her husband's [illegible] menace of her husband's [illegible]

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am invited to a dinner and theatre party given by a friend of mine on her birthday. The dinner is to be given at a well-known club and she told me to invite a friend

(1) Should I send a gift to her home or should I have my escort present it to her when we arrive at the club?

(2) It won't be necessary for my friend to give her anything, will it? They have never met

I would be very grateful if you would help me out

PUZZLED.

IT would be far preferable, under the circumstances, for you to send the birthday present to the young lady at her home. By no means have your escort present it to her when you go to the party. There is no reason for this, and it would seem very awkward and forced. It isn't his present, and you should not give your presents by proxy.

(2) No, it will not be necessary for him to give your hostess (and his) a gift. However this provides a charming opportunity for a young man to pay a compliment to his hostess by sending her a box of flowers or, better, corsage on the morning of the party. Such an invitation as the one your hostess is extending can be so exquisitely acknowledged in this "floral way" that many young gallants—and older ones, too—pay this pretty compliment to the hostess.

And—let me whisper to you—the clever girl makes this suggestion and gets it carried out without having [illegible] it is [illegible] So many [illegible] in [illegible] and [illegible] appreciation and [illegible] out some [illegible] of appreciation.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have just received an announcement of the engagement of a friend. Is it advisable to acknowledge the same? If so, in what form? It was the gentleman that we knew first; we met the bride last Summer.

G. B. V.

YES, it seems the only friendly thing to do—doesn't it—to write to the friend who sent us the announcement and say how delighted we are to have the happy news. Then add your good wishes and your "congratulations" for the groom-to-be.

DAILY SHORT STORY

HARVEY TELLS THE WORLD

By Louise Peple Armstrong

HARVEY RAMSEY was going to call upon Phyllis Goode. He took a bus at the corner, having gone into the drug store to get her a box of chocolates and he sat down beside an elderly lady in the rear of the vehicle. She smiled at his eager face, the light in his big blue eyes whereat Harvey flushed painfully and glanced out of the window. A school girl opposite giggled [illegible] and he grew hot with embarrassment. What was that saying, "All the world loves a lover?" That was bosh. All the world [illegible] a lover, is ready to stick its tongue in its cheek at him and grin!

It was easy to see that Harvey Ramsey was a sensitive man, who did not relish being guyed about girls. In fact he had never had much to do with girls until Phyllis won his heart, and he was 23. He was no longer abashed in her presence, and yet as he thought of the evening before him a lump came into his throat. For he had made up his mind to propose to Phyllis—do it at once!

He reached her apartment house at last, and climbed the three flights of stairs. The Goodes lived on the top floor, and it was a rather modest establishment, boasting no elevator. The building was warm, the inhabitants of a neighborly disposition, so that front doors were left open and as the youth walked past on his way up he caught glimpses of interiors, gained a fleeting impression of the home life of perhaps a dozen families. Presently, as he was about to [illegible] the last [illegible] "[illegible] Phyllis Goode. Looks like he means business, Sam!"

Harvey burned upward in a [illegible] of the strange [illegible] regarding his intentions had robbed the house of some of its glamour.

Phyllis was waiting for him in the [illegible] sit on [illegible] davenport, which [illegible] comfort [illegible] night [illegible] They could [illegible] the afternoons and [illegible] the [illegible] old [illegible] were at [illegible] toured the streets [illegible] companions. But returning from an entertainment themselves, Harvey was forced to say good-night in the narrow hallway outside, since the living-room-dining-room was then the bedroom of the young scion of the family. At first this had irked the young couple, but finally they accepted the fact cheerfully — even joked about it.

"Oh, Harvey, for me!" exclaimed Phyllis as she took the box of candy and deftly untied the white string that bound its wrappings. "Oh, how lovely!"

She was a looker, Harvey thought, in her dark blue georgette frock of modish cut, her brown and curly bobbed hair all glinting in the afternoon sunlight.

"Phyllis," he began bravely, "I—I've got something to ask you—"

And suddenly through the thin partition walls of the apartment house, a shrill voice penetrated from next door. "Row? Those Goodes do nothing but row! They should be ashamed—and before their children, too!"

Harvey sat very still and Phyllis looked at him with a stricken expression.

"It's that old Mrs. Cummins, across from us," she finally explained. "Hateful person! Mommer won't lend her things any more because she never brings them back, so now she's talking about us—right through the walls — oh!" Phyllis suddenly buried her face in her hands and the georgette shoulders shook.

"Don't you care, Honey!" Harvey's voice was a blending of indignation and tenderness. He put a timid arm about her.

Phyllis raised a tear-stained little face, flushed but filled with admiration.

"Listen," he said, trying to be masterful, "listen, Phyllis, I've something—something to ask you, Honey—" His voice rose with his emotion in a note of confidence.

"There's that young man calling on Phyllis Goode now," Mrs. Cummins' observations again penetrated the room with startling clarity. "Been goin' with her long enough—I should think he'd have asked her before now!"

He let the girl's hands drop, and though she smiled bravely he could see in her face the horror of the situation.

"Isn't she foolish?" Phyllis asked as she drew away from him. "Nosey-body! I can't have a gentleman friend here without having her make remarks like this. Why, last week when Jimmy Gaines came—"

Harvey stiffened. "Oh," he observed frigidly, "so Jimmy Gaines is calling on you, is he?"

Phyllis tossed her curls. "Of course," she replied. "He's one of my best friends. What have you against Jimmy Gaines?"

"Nothing at all," responded the youth sulkily. "It's your business who comes to see you."

"Yes, of course," she retorted frigidly.

After a miserable half-hour of stilted conversation Harvey departed. "Glad to have found you in," he remarked genially, and he raised his voice unnecessarily, whereat she flushed angrily. She couldn't very well shout out and remind him that he had begged her for a date.

"He's leaving earlier than usual," a voice floated down to him from the second floor as he reached the street. "Wonder if they've had a fuss?"

Next time he saw Phillis they met by accident in the corner drug store. She did not speak to him, and piqued at the cut he determined to put her in her place. So he paid a great deal of attention to a Miss Ware, of the stenographic department in his bank with whom he had been talking when Phillis entered. Miss Ware was a tall, dashing sort of girl with an air of sophistication. It had been a cloudy evening, and now rain fell heavily.

"Let me get you a taxi," Harvey exclaimed as Miss Ware turned to go.

"You're a dear boy," she acceded, "but you really shouldn't. I live so near."

When he turned as he accompanied her out, to note the effect of his words and actions on Phyllis, he saw that the latter had gone. But climbing into the machine after Miss Ware, he was conscious of a little red figure at the corner under the arc-light. Phyllis in her red rain-coat, without an umbrella, in the downpour! His heart smote him when driving past her, he caught sight again of her white face.

"This is where I live," Miss Ware was telling him. "Sorry I can't ask you in. You see my—my fiance is calling tonight and I must hurry and get dressed. Thanks for the buggy ride."

Harvey dismissed the taxi at the next corner and walked for two hours in the rain, before he could make up his mind. Finally, however, with a grim sort of determination, he set his chin and turned in the direction of Phyllis' apartment home.

Phyllis herself opened the door. At first she glared at him, and he could see that her eyes were red from weeping.

"I've been an awful fool, Phyllis," he said humbly. "I've come to ask you to forgive me."

"Oh, Harvey, you're all wet!" she exclaimed. "And do hush," she added, "the neighbors will hear you!"

"What if they do?" he cried suddenly bold, for he had seen happiness like a torch lit in her dark eyes. "What if they do? Listen, I'm in love with you—and I don't care who hears it. Do you love me, Phyllis?"

Phyllis gasped, for down the length of the hallway, from which a moment before had come the pleasant hum of conversation, came now the stilled silence of expectancy.

"You haven't answered me yet!" he reminded her sternly. "Yes or no?"

"Oh, Harvey, yes! Only stop shouting you—you're telling everyone!"

"Certainly I am," cried Harvey exultantly. "We're going to be married! We're going to be married very soon—I'll tell the world we are!"

MEDBURY SAYS---

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

ACCORDING to motor statistics, there are over ten million women in this country who drive automobiles, and most of them do it while their husbands are at the wheel.

ONE guy said his wife talked so much that he had to put the windshield between the front and back seats.

HE finally had to get a divorce in order to take the noise out of the rear end.

SHE was so long winded that he was thinking of selling the car and buying a sail boat.

THE only time he ever enjoyed a ride was last year when he was taking her to the hospital with lock-jaw.

HE stalled his motor twice and took three detours on purpose. He didn't want to get her there any quicker than necessary.

HE knew a good thing when she had it.

THE doctors told him that she wouldn't be able to open her mouth for two weeks, so he took his vacation.

ONE millionaire said his wife talked so much that instead of using a limousine he rode around in a Ford so that he couldn't hear what she was saying.

HE was never able to keep any chauffeurs because his wife treated them like one of the family.

THEY wouldn't put up with it for thirty-five dollars a week.

SOME women are good drivers, but most of them don't do so well at the wheel.

THERE'S a fellow in Detroit who has the right idea. He puts chloroform in his wife's smelling salts.

AND if that doesn't work, he puts mucilage on her lipsticks.

SHE coughs quite a bit, and some day he's going to hide a mouse trap in her handkerchief.

HE'S trying to invent an attachment for her mouth so that he can close it from the front seat.

LINDBERGH flew all the way to Paris alone, and it won't be long now until a married man will be able to drive an automobile by himself.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

THERE are four things which just happen to a man in this world, and about which his wishes are never consulted—birth, death, love and marriage. But he can choose his own hair-cut and his own brand of cigarettes.

Many a man fondly fancies that his life "would make a book," when it would make nothing more than a tabloid paragraph.

Falling in love is like going under the anaesthetic for an operation. When you "come to," you've nearly always lost something—your freedom, your independence, your dignity or your illusions!

Most of the Younger Set seem to regard marriage as a cruel practical joke which Nature played on their parents and will put over on them, if they don't watch out.

Another way in which man resembles the well-known housecat, is in that homing instinct which enables him to stagger straight to his own front door, after a banquet, in a city full of millions of homes!

A kiss MAY have shortened life by three minutes, in those sweet old days when it stimulated the heart and increased the blood pressure — but pshaw! In these days of casual kissing it would not shorten it by one accelerated pulse-beat!

With a man, "remorse" sets in along with convalescence from the love-fever; but he is never stricken with genuine contrition until he finds himself so tangled up that he can't get OUT.

* * *

About all that a literary woman seems to get out of marriage, these days, is experience—and the data for her next book.

Oh, yes, the modern girl has a great deal more backbone than her mother had—and apparently she is determined to SHOW it!

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

WHAT IS YOUR VIEW POINT LIKE?

By Lucy Lowell

"WE must," says Emerson, "be as courteous to a man as to a picture, which we are willing to give the benefit of a good light."

A raindrop on the window pane may blur the stars and wash them out of sight for us, or it may become a crystal frame for a new world, brighter and more beaming than any we have seen before.

It's all in the point of view. People and things are as you see them; they are—to you—the objective manifestations of your own thought. The quality of your thought is the light you hang your picture in.

You may, for example, see a man as brusk, ill-mannered and ill-natured, if you regard him with a critical thought.

Or, turning upon him the light of tolerance, you may see that the qualities you object to are but evidences of a deep sincerity.

The one point of view shows you a disagreeable person whom no one could like, really; one whom you certainly would not care to have for a friend.

The other reveals a person whose dominant trait is one above all others you would wish to find in a friend—honesty.

It may be quite true that to others this man you admire for his honesty still will be the grouchy and unlovable character.

But that needn't bother you. It's your own aspect of the man that you're concerned with and responsible for. It's your own good light, your own correct viewpoint, your own tolerant thought that is going to discover his honesty and realize it for you.

MAYOR STARTS PROJECT FOR AUDITORIUM

of the eternal conflict going on among two groups in the city, one of which wished to keep Boston "a sweet, quiet village, its walls covered with vines," and the other which wanted to shove Boston ahead into her proper place as an American metropolis.

The Mayor said, "The city ought to own such a building, as other cities do. Take Atlantic City—there are not so many attractions there as we have here. Boston is entitled to spend money on an auditorium."

The Mayor could not resist the opportunity to refer to the Finance Commission. "The Finance Commission is built on small ideas. Little Boston ideas. We must go ahead. I look for great things in this city in the next few years."

The Mayor pointed out that a dozen large American cities have built or are building such auditoriums, and in only one of the cities is it being completed by private capital.

FOR HERO DEAD.

He pointed out the various new enterprises which have come to Boston, making available 3,000 additional hotel rooms to take care of large conventions. He stated also that Boston had done nothing for her hero dead and what could be more appropriate than a combined war memorial and auditorium.

The Mayor told how Atlantic City after court litigation had gained permission to erect a municipal auditorium costing $10,000,000 and seating 30,000 persons.

"Boston needs such a building. It is the most attractive city under the sun, famed at it is for its art, for its educational establishments, for its traditions and points of historical interests," he said in closing.

A. C. Ratshesky, chairman of Mayor Nichols' committee on the 300th anniversary celebration, asserted that the real question on the auditorium idea was whether it should be built by the city or by private capital. He stated that it was his belief that the 1930 celebration should not exceed an expenditure of more than $150,000 or $200,000.

Colonel Frank Knox, New England regional director of the Hearst newspapers, endorsed the mayor's suggestion and said, "We will support the program 100 per cent and do all we can to make it successful."

Colonel Knox spoke on the advertising value of such a project to Boston and said that all over the United States there was a natural instinct to come to new England.

NONE COULD COMPETE.

"There is not another city in the country that could compete with the Hub if such an auditorium should be built. If we could provide such a place no city in the United States could compete with Boston with its additional hotel facilities," said Colonel Knox.

Robert Lincoln O'Brien, editor of the Boston Herald, said, "Such a building would do more to put Boston on the map than anything else and give a quietus to the 'absurd' idea of a world's fair at Boston in 1930." He termed the project as "the cleverest idea for Boston," and urged that the auditorium be built large enough to take care of national conventions. "It is the one thing that we need in Boston," said Mr. O'Brien.

"A good piece of business not only for Boston, but for all of New England," declared Harry W. Poor of the Boston Globe. He declared that in all probability there was a strong popular sentiment prepared to assert itself favorably to the project.

ROTARIANS APPROVE.

A. H. Marchant of the Boston Post and president of the Boston Rotary Club, representing 305 business concerns, said that his organization had already discussed and approved the auditorium idea. He suggested that the American Legion in 1930 might hold its national convention here, in a dedicatory way.

The Mayor at this point called for a vote upon the question of whether public or private money should build the structure. Edward R. Mahoney, managing editor of the Boston Evening American reminded the Mayor that if the project was to be of a memorial character, it would necessarily have to be built with public money. All favored the municipal plan.

Other speakers were Edward J. Dunn, city editor of the Boston Post; George S. Mansfield of the Boston Transcript, and Paul S. Deland of the Christian Science Monitor.

Others present included George M. Dimond of the Boston Globe, James W. Reardon, Edward R. Mahoney and Mortimer C. Priest of the Boston Evening American, Kent Perkins, Edward E. Whiting, Thomas Carens and F. L. Bullard of the Boston Herald, Henry T. Claus, Frank C. Bowker and E. F. Murch of the Boston Transcript, John K. Gowen, Jr., of the Boston Sunday Advertiser, Harold F. Wheeler of the Boston Traveler, Corporation Counsel Frank S. Deland and City Collector George H. Johnson.

B. U. PROFESSOR WILL DIRECT CONFERENCE

Professor H. Augustine Smith, head of the department of fine arts in religion at the Boston University School of Theology, will leave Boston shortly after commencement day, June 13, for Evanston, Ill., where he will supervise and direct a conference on the uses of fine arts in church work, and conduct an exhibition of pictures and fine arts equipment for the church, under auspices of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of that city.

There will be a five-day program, from June 27 to July 1. The conference will be open to ministers, assistant pastors, directors and superintendents of Bible schools. It will be under the general direction of John W. Beattie of the Northwestern School of Music at Evanston.

RUMORED MRS. VANDERBILT IS TO WED

anything deeper than friendship in their feeling for each other.

WEDDING SHORTLY.

It is an open secret that the marriage of William K. Vanderbilt, 2d, and Mrs. Warburton will take place in a very short time, but little is known of the second romance. It has been known for a long time that Vanderbilt sought his divorce in order to marry Mrs. Warburton.

So much has been a foregone conclusion for so long a time among the social wiseacres, that attention is now focussed upon Mrs. Vanderbilt, the former Virginia Fair. For nearly two decades this woman of deep religious convictions steadfastly refused to allow her husband his freedom.

Only when her two daughters had grown up, made their debuts and married did Mrs. Vanderbilt consent to permit her husband to have his legal freedom. These daughters, Muriel and Consuelo, are now Mrs. Frederick Church and Mrs. Earl E. T. Smith.

HAS ANOTHER YEAR.

Recently it was announced that she had decided to move from her residence at No. 666 Fifth avenue to a three-floor apartment at No. 969 Park avenue, nearly opposite to that of her divorced husband, at No. 651 Park avenue.

Now as the divorce is announced, it turns out Mrs. Vanderbilt has no intention of living in the immediate neighborhood of her former husband. Only a few days ago realty brokers were authorized to offer for sale Mrs. Vanderbilt's Park avenue apartment.

Under the terms of the sale of Mrs. Vanderbilt's Fifth avenue palace, which she disposed of for $3,400,000, she need not move out of it until May, 1928.

DIVORCED 13 YEARS AGO.

Waterbury was divorced in 1914 by his wife, the former Maude Livingston Hall, daughter of Mrs. V. G. Hall. She received an absolute divorce at Portland, Me., where she established a legal residence, and custody of her two minor children. Later she married David Gray, author and playwright.

The very reluctance, however, with which Mrs. Vanderbilt consented to a divorce, has led to the report that simultaneously she has pending before the Roman Rota, proceedings to annul her wedding under the religious laws.

FATHER, A FORTY-NINER.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was the daughter of the late James G. Fair, former United States Senator from California, and famous as a forty-niner. He died in 1898. His wife, nee Rooney, was the daughter of a forty-niner. They were wed in 1860. He was a Protestant, she a Catholic.

As a debutante Miss Fair had many suitors, among them Count Boni di Castellane, then considered a great matrimonial catch.

William K. Vanderbilt's approaching wedding to Mrs. Warburton, Jr., has long been forecast. Their romance was hinted at when Mrs. Warburton became a guest of honor along with a jolly party of friends, aboard Vanderbilt's yacht, in the Mediterranean. This followed the divorce obtained by Mrs. Warburton, Jr., from her husband, in Paris. He is the grandson of John Wanamaker.

'DORCHESTER DAY' WILL BE OBSERVED TOMORROW

Through co-operation of the business men, residents and social organizations of Dorchester the celebration of Dorchester Day tomorrow will eclipse past observances, the last of which was before the World War.

These celebrations were first staged at the suggestion of former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald.

Following sporting events, baby carriage parades, flag raisings and band concerts, in various parts of the district, a dinner, given by the Citizens' Business Men's Association of Meeting House Hill, will be served in Bloomfield Hall, Geneva street. Senator David I. Walsh, former Mayors Fitzgerald and James M. Curley will be among the speakers.

ATLANTIC AIRPORT WILL OPEN JUNE 27

The new airport of the Dennison Aircraft Corporation, now being built at Quincy shore drive and East Squantum street, Atlantic, will be opened the week of June 27, according to an announcement made at the corporation's office.

The corporation will sell airplanes, conduct a flying school and furnish air taxi service. The planes are small and will carry a pilot and two passengers. They will have a speed of 120 miles an hour and a cruising radius of 400 miles.

ASK ALDERMEN TO KILL $1,000,000 SCHOOL ORDER

One hundred and sixty-three residents of Somerville attended the mass meeting held in the high school hall to protest against the proposed addition to the school, to cost $1,000,000. The meeting adopted by a voice vote a resolution requesting the Board of Aldermen to reconsider its action in passing the order calling for the issuing of bonds with which to carry out the work.

Legal Notices 147

(D. P. U. 2859)

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—In Department of Public Utilities, Boston, May 27, 1927.—On the petition of Boston Consolidated Gas Company for approval of a contract with the New England Fuel and Transportation Company for the purchase of gas, the Commission of the Department of Public Utilities will give a public hearing to all parties interested at its hearing room, 166 State House, Boston, on WEDNESDAY, the eighth day of June next, at twelve o'clock noon. And the petitioner is required to give notice of said hearing by serving a copy hereof upon the respective mayors of Boston, Chelsea, Newton and Waltham and the respective chairmen of the selectmen of Brookline, Milton, Watertown, Wellesley and Weston five days at least prior to the date of said hearing, to publish a copy hereof in the Boston Herald, Boston Post, Boston Transcript, Boston American, Boston Globe, Boston Traveler, Christian Science Monitor, Chelsea Record, Newton Graphic, Waltham News-Tribune and Watertown Tribune-Enterprise, in each of said papers once at least prior to the date of said hearing, and to make return of service and publication at the time of hearing.

By order of the Commission,
(Signed) ANDREW A. HIGHLANDS,
Secretary.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE ☆ ☆ BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN ☆ ☆ BOSTON JUNE 3, 1927

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON:
1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parking problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land; in order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND:
1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.
3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

Grade Crossings

Where There Are No Gates There Should Be FLAGMEN, at Least on "Big Traffic" Days

The loss of 19 lives on the highways of New England on a single holiday suggests, for one thing, that on important festivals every rural grade crossing should be guarded by a flagman.

NINE of Memorial Day's 19 fatalities OCCURRED AT GRADE CROSSINGS. None of the dispatches tells of gates or watchman.

We know very well that our railroads are none too prosperous and that they are putting into practice every possible economy, but it is NOT unreasonable to ask that, at least on holidays, when they profit to some extent by the operation of excursion trains, they be required to LESSEN the menace of the ALWAYS menacing crossing-at-grade.

The week-end and the holiday inevitably bring out the occasional or once-a-week motorist, who sometimes needs protection from himself.

The RECKLESS MOTORIST is always a menace.

He seldom exercises PROPER CAUTION AT CURVES.

He fails to SLOW DOWN AT CROSSINGS.

Railroad tracks mean NOTHING to him.

It can not be denied that the AVERAGE motorist has grown more careful.

There is, for example, less "cutting in" than there used to be, not so much hogging the road, more care not to follow another car too closely for safety.

Just the same the Sunday driver, the once-a-weeker, can not be reminded too often that there were 412 motor deaths in Massachusetts alone in 1926 and 410 in the year previous.

Your once-a-week driver is usually a GENEROUS fellow, never quite happy unless the family bus carries too many passengers for comfort.

All the more reason for exercising caution.

In days when buggy riding was the thing, on Sundays and holidays, the gates at grade crossings were set off with painted warnings to "Beware the Engine!"

It was good advice THEN and it is BETTER advice NOW.

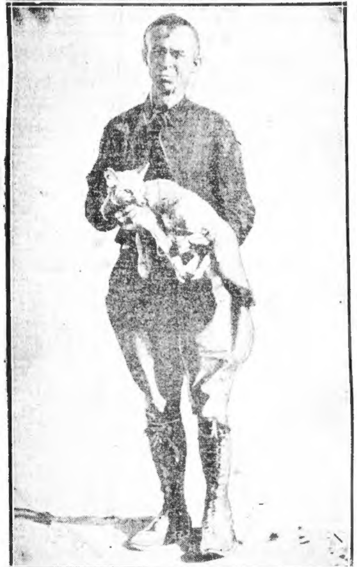
He Knows Animals

Diplomats Might Learn From Him



VERNON BAILEY, OF THE U. S. AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT, HANDLING A LIVE WILD FOX.

This photograph was taken on the Mojave Desert in California. It shows Mr. Vernon Bailey, head of the "small mammals" branch of the Department of Agriculture, carrying a live desert fox.

The fox was caught in a steel trap, a few minutes before this photograph was taken. It was tugging at the trap, arranged to break no bones and inflict no serious injury. For an ordinary individual to have approached the terror-stricken animal would have been dangerous. Its sharp teeth would have bitten in a dozen places.

But Mr. Vernon Bailey knows animals, has a kindly feeling for them, and is not AFRAID of them. He gently released the pressure of the steel spring on the fox's leg, picked up the animal as you see in his bare hands, and carried it back to the ranch house, much to the delight of boys and men that witnessed the achievement.

The fox, a most beautiful creature, with brilliant red fur, huge, fine eyes, was kept in a cage for study. At the end of a few days it "escaped," perhaps with the connivance of Mr. Bailey, who likes animals.

Not one man in ten thousand probably could handle a wild fox under such conditions without being bitten and without using force and cruelty.

Mr. Bailey understands animals, trusts them, feels sorry for them, has a way of inspiring confidence in them.

If diplomats that cause wars would study and understand human beings, as Mr. Bailey studies animals, there might be fewer wars.

FLAPPERS ALL RIGHT, FOLLOW STYLE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE Right Reverend Charles E. Woodcock from Chicago says: "Half a century ago, the girls wore dresses with long trains which dragged in the dirt and filth of the streets. They wore hoop skirts and bustles with Grecian curves. The sanitary phases of these outfits was anything but good. Today, our young women are dressed at least more hygienically."

This is the sensible view to take of the modern woman's clothes, but we often overlook the reason why she dresses so. In other words, why the "flapper flaps."

Let us ask ourselves why, in former times, women wore huge bustles, chignons and other outrageous styles. There is but one answer. They did it to keep in the fashion.

The one dominating rule of women's apparel, and also of men's for that matter, is style.

Women will go to any lengths and spend all kinds of money to be in the swim.

The dominating reason why flappers flap is because they all do it.

If it was the style to wear shoes with long pointed toes as formerly or to don a headdress sticking up two or three feet and elaborately constructed, all the girls would have them.

In the meantime let us give thanks that fashion in these days is at least hygienic and the shorter a girl's dress and the simpler her mode of coiffure the healthier she is apt to be.

And as far as that is concerned, the welfare of the coming generation will be better taken care of than by those who, as in former times, laced their waists and loaded their heads in the absurd following of the styles.

It is not fair, therefore, to criticize the younger generation of maidens because they expose their ankles or otherwise dress in scanty clothing, for they are just doing what their ancestors did; that is, they are following the styles.

Dame Fashion speaks without rhyme or reason. Sometimes she leads the human race into healthful habits and sometimes she acts in a manner most crazy and bizarre.

But let us not lay the blame of what we do to our reason only. It is merely the result of the universal habit of following the styles.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

OH, airy bird, so bright, so light, a breath of wind could toss away; oh, creature fashioned for delight through all the sparkling Summer day, why should such beauty be so brief, such emerald loveliness so frail, to last scarce longer than a leaf upon a sudden Autumn gale? Why should the perfect bloom of you, so tinted, painted, shaped with care, be fleeting as the morning dew upon the warmth of sunlit air? Is there a message which you bring? For surely it could never be that such an airy, fairy thing could live for but the moment's glee! This is the glad and golden tale beneath your quivering delight; no creature is too small, too frail, to bear some truth of love, of light!

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

LAW.

WITH the fining of more than twoscore bootleggers in Malden, that city is now one of the dryest spots in the State. Several thousand dollars in fines have been taken in at court, part of which revert to the city treasury. By adding suspended terms in jail to the fines, JUDGE ELBRIDGE G. DAVIS believes the city will continue dry because if further infractions occur, those under suspended sentence must take the jail terms without further ado.

CHURCHES.

Visitors to WALTHAM will in the near future have no excuse to offer for failing to attend church services during their stay in that city. Working on the principle that "It pays to advertise," the WALTHAM COUNCIL, FEDERATION OF CHURCHES, is about to establish signs on six streets entering the city, giving a list of the churches in the city, their location and the time of the services. The signs will be erected near the various "Welcome to Waltham" signs at the gateways to the city.

POPULAR.

The most popular traffic cop in Brookline is the title conferred on Traffic Officer JIM CASEY, who does duty at Washington and Beacon streets every day. JIM is unique in that he never loses his smile and also has never discovered what the regulation whistle is used for. He substitutes his own natural noise maker and moves traffic like a charm.

FAVORITES

"THE DANDY FIFTH" and "LANTY LEARY" are two of EX-MAYOR JAMES M. CURLEY'S favorite recitations which he gives at patriotic functions run under the auspices of Irish societies. The emphasis which he lays on the "kid gloved member" of the old Civil War piece is thrilling.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SUPPOSE you owned a remarkable herd of cattle—a super-herd, famous for its beauty and strength and intelligence—extremely valuable—

And suppose that, by evil chance, some diseased, weak cattle found their way to the range where your cattle grazed, and began to breed with your cattle—

What would you do?

Would you permit those diseased cattle to mix their poor blood with the splendid blood of your cattle and spread their weakness and disease throughout your herd? Or would you use every means to prevent such contamination. The answer is obvious.

And yet daily we contenance a pollution infinitely more terrible and of a breed inexpressibly more valuable—the breed of MAN.

We have laws which protect the health and propagation of the meanest domestic brutes—of pigs and chickens and horses and cows, but we refuse to make laws which will protect the human herd against the menace of hereditary ills.

And, at last, some of our States are awakening to this fact, and beginning to realize that human crops may be as well worth salvaging as crops of pigs or peaches.

Now comes the State of Virginia heaving herself out of her romantic jasmine bowers, and hurling a bomb against immemorial stupidity and superstition.

"THE UNFIT SHALL NOT BREED!" cries Virginia, and to that end has made a law which will put an end to feeble-minded citizens reproducing their kind. Hereafter under that law, mental defectives, of both sexes, will be sterilized in Virginia.

As might have been expected, there has been violent opposition to this law, but the Supreme Court has upheld it, and in upholding it has upheld the rights of all States to pass such laws.

Judge Oliver Wendell Holmes, 85-year-old liberal member of the court, in delivering this decision, declares that if the States have the right to demand the lives of their best citizens in the protection of their country, they certainly have the right to control those weaklings

MY FAMILY TREE IS PROTECTED; HOW ABOUT YOURS?
ELSIE ROBINSON 6-3

who would pollute the life of the coming generations.

"It is better," says he, "for all the world if, instead of waiting to execute degenerate offspring for crime, or to let them starve for their imbecility, society can prevent those who are manifestly unfit from continuing their kind."

The decision also will control the validity of the laws of several States for the sterilization of criminals serving life sentences.

How are YOU going to vote when they put those laws up to YOU?
